Newsman Hurt In Los Angeles Racial Trouble

Neighborhood Said To Be Tense; Police Are Kept on Alert

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two outbursts of violence by Negroes — one resulting in injuries to two newsmen — and scattered reports of gunshots kept South Los Angeles tense and police on the alert today.

Officers said the incidents Tuesday night followed a demonstration in front of a police station, where 500 Negroes gathered after a rally held in a nearby park to protest the fatal shooting of a Negro by a police man.

Officers said two small bands of Negroes were responsible for the violence, which broke out shortly after the crowd dispersed from the 77th Street Precinct, the substation that patrols the Watts area of South Los Angeles.

Newsweek Writer Injured in one of the outbursts was Karl Fleming, 38, Los Angeles bureau chief for Newsweek magazine, and a Newsweek reporter, David Morgan, 22. Police said both were knocked to the ground by Negroes wielding pieces of lumber. Fleming was hospitalized.

In the other outburst, officers said, a band of 25 Negroes smashed the window of a liquor store and escaped with several bottles of liquor and some food.

One man was arrested and 12 youths detained for questioning but then released, officers said. Police said Fleming and Morgan, accompanied by another Newsweek reporter, Phil Hager, apparently were on their way to the liquor store when attacked.

The three said they had gone to Wisconsin Michigan Power.

His first statement on McCans' condition was issued more than four hours after the operation was completed.

Students Jeer At UW Forum In Madison

Continue Protest At Campus Building After Demonstration

MADISON (AP)—Jeering students shouted "liars" at State Department officials trying to explain U.S. involvement in Vietnam and extended their occupation of the University of Wisconsin administration building into a third day of protest today.

The campers, bedding down on the marble floor in the main lobby, won support from the Student Senate which voted 20-11 to demand that university officials refuse to cooperate with draft boards.

About 300 hooting students staged a strident walkout at a university-sponsored State Department forum Tuesday night. Many of them returned to the campus administration building which they invaded the previous day to dramatize their protest.

Give Order The senate, an elected body representing the 28,000 students on campus, passed a measure that, by its wording, gave university officials an order to stop furnishing classroom grades and class rank to the selective service.

The Student Senate has no formal authority in the university administration. University officials had no immediate comment on the demand.

The senate action and the campers' protest were aimed at the use of academic standing in determining which students should receive draft deferments. The outbreak at the State Department forum was pointed directly at U.S. involvement in Vietnam and was the second of its kind within one year.

The four-member government team was besieged by boos and repeated shouts of "You're lying." The students hurled charges of U.S. atrocities and accusations that Saigon had become an American brothel.

Old Story Thomas Conlon, one of the State Department spokesmen, called the latter subject "the

LBJ Calls Critics 'Nervous Nellies'

President Tells Party Dinner He Wants Viet Nam Killing to Stop

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson repeated anew his pledge of readiness to sit at the negotiating table "with any government who genuinely and sincerely seeks to talk instead of fight."

He and Mrs. Johnson flew back to Washington after the speech.

At his news conference, Rusk said it should be obvious to the rival factions in South Viet Nam that "there is restiveness here" over their civil strife.

"And when the American people are called upon to make a major effort to support the independence, the safety, of a country like South Viet Nam, their own attitude, their own solidarity, their own efforts are crucial elements in the combined deter-

Earlier, Secretary of State Dean Rusk told a news conference that the Johnson administration is using all its influence to get the South Vietnamese to put aside "secondary issues and unite in the main tasks of fighting the war and building a new political system."

Civil Strife Rusk said the United States has warned the quarrelsome political leaders of South Viet Nam that civil strife there is endangering U.S. support for defense of their country against Communist conquest.

Johnson's theme, however, was political strife in the United States.

"There will be nervous Nellies and some who become frustrated and bothered and break ranks under the strain and turn on their own leaders, their own country and their own fighting men," he told the Democrats.

But he said he had no doubt the American people ultimately "will stand united until every boy is brought home safely, until the gallant people of South Viet Nam have their own choice of their own government."

LBJ Frustrated The President conceded he is troubled and frustrated about the Vietnamese solution and said "We are seeking a way out. We are trying to find the solution."

Asserting that no one wants peace as much as he does,

SHADE GAP, Pa. (AP) — A pursuing FBI agent, fired two aimed shots at oncoming state troopers before he collapsed, bleeding heavily.

Final Gunfight The final gunfight climaxed a massive manhunt in the Tuscarora Mountains 70 miles southwest of Harrisburg.

Hollenbaugh — once an inmate of an asylum for the criminally insane — snatched Peggy Ann on her way home from school last Wednesday.

A force of 250 state troopers which had surrounded Hollenbaugh's mountain hideout throughout the night began closing in at dawn. Deputy Sheriff Francis Sharp found the kidnaper and the girl in a cabin.

Conny said Hollenbaugh shot Deputy Sharp in the stomach and pushing the girl into the back seat of the car, forced the deputy to drive toward Highway 522, a quarter of a mile away down a farm lane.

At the Ruback farm, Hollenbaugh ordered the bleeding deputy to get out and open the gate to the highway.

Conny said young Ruback pointed a shotgun loaded with a slug out the window of his home and fired. As the slug spun Hollenbaugh around, the girl broke away and ran.

A state police car pulled up and Hollenbaugh fired two shots at the officers. They returned the fire and Hollenbaugh went down.

"Young Larry fired his shotgun as another state trooper fired at Hollenbaugh," Conny said. "It is believed Hollenbaugh was struck simultaneously by rounds from the trooper's gun and the shot by Larry."

Conny said he believed Hollenbaugh died as he fell to the ground. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Fulton Medical Center in nearby McConnellsburg.

Deputy Sharp was taken to a hospital in Chambersburg, where he underwent surgery. His condition was described as serious.

Illinois Official's Stolen Car Found With Phone Call

CHICAGO (AP)—Patrick Ruddy, chief investigator for Illinois Atty. Gen. William G. Clark, decided to call Clark's stolen car Tuesday.

The state-owned car was stolen Saturday night in Madison, Wis., while Clark was attending a conference.

Ruddy recalled that the attorney general had a telephone in the car. "I decided to call, but to hang up if anyone answered," he said.

So he called. He told the operator to try the Chicago area first. It was a good choice.

The telephone rang a few times before a voice answered "Chicago Police Pound."

Chicago police, who had found the car Tuesday, had not been notified it was stolen. Within hours, Clark had his car back in good condition.

Britain Agrees To Negotiations On Gibraltar

Sovereignty Won't Be Topic With Spain Government Insists

By MYRON K. MYERS

LONDON (AP) — Britain intends to reaffirm its sovereignty over Gibraltar in talks this month with Spain.

The British government, in a surprise move at the end of February, agreed to Spanish demands for unconditional talks on the future of the 1,400-foot-high rock at the entrance to the Mediterranean.

Britain had steadfastly refused to negotiate under the duress of a Spanish campaign of border harassment designed to force Britain to the conference table.

The talks may prove a milestone in British-Spanish relations. They will be watched anxiously by the 25,000 Gibraltarians, many of whom have signified their desire to remain British.

Not Sovereignty

The British government has stated that while it is willing to hear what the Spanish propose, it has no intention of discussing Britain's sovereignty.

Many Britons regard the Rock as a symbol of the British Empire. They applauded Sir Winston Churchill when, during World War II, he moved to replenish the supply of big Barbary apes that live wild on the Rock.

By legend, Gibraltar will remain British as long as the apes remain. Churchill made his move when the number of apes was growing low.

Gibraltar's military role in the missile age has declined greatly. It is not a base of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization but would be available to NATO in time of war. Its main military usefulness is as a naval refueling station.

Spanish Siege

Gibraltar withstood years of Spanish siege in the 18th century. It was a key point in World War I's antisubmarine campaign in the Mediterranean. In World War II, sea and air cover for the North African campaigns was controlled from deep within its subterranean fortifications.

The three-mile-long Gibraltar peninsula has been fortified ever since the Moorish chief Tariq Ibn Ziyad landed with 12,000 men in 711 and built a castle on the rock.

The Moors held Gibraltar with one short intermission for 750 years. The area then became a pawn between rival feudal families. From the beginning of the 16th century to the beginning of the 18th century, it was under firm Spanish control and Gibraltar's fortifications were improved.

Britain gained its first hold on the peninsula in 1704 when the combined British and Dutch fleets under Sir George Rooke drove out the Spanish garrison during the war of the Spanish succession.

Treaty of 1713

Under the Treaty of Utrecht in 1713, the Spanish king for himself, his heirs and his successors, yielded to Britain the "full and entire propriety" of Gibraltar "to be held and enjoyed absolutely with all manner of right forever."

The Spanish were not happy about it, however, and repeatedly tried to take the Rock back. In 1783, Spain agreed to withdraw its claim in return for Menorca and Florida.

With the opening of the Suez Canal and the extension of British interests in India and East Africa, Gibraltar gained an important place in the empire.

Today the rock is still headquarters of the British Mediterranean fleet, but the presence of the U.S. 6th Fleet, the unity of Western Europe, and Britain's decline as a world power have lessened the rock's military importance.

Economically, Gibraltar still depends heavily on the presence of naval ships, dockyards and installations, but most American and NATO ships patronize Spanish, French and Italian ports.

Varied Origin
The Gibraltarians are, in numerical order, of Italian, Maltese, Portuguese and Spanish origin. Many Spanish commuters have worked in the colony.

The constitution of 1964 grants almost complete internal self-rule.

Spanish officials argued at the United Nations that a grant of self-determination to Gibraltar would break a Treaty of Utrecht stipulation—that if Britain relinquished sovereignty, it would give first offer to Spain.

Spain has accused Britain of extending its territory beyond the fortress by building an airstrip in a neutral zone. It claims that Churchill promised to return Gibraltar to Spain during World War II.

The Spanish authorities have refused foreign tourists entry by car into Spain and cut off Spanish exports to the colony.

Southerners Alter Segregation Stand

Candidates Suddenly Ignore Integration in Campaigning

Editor's Note — A Supreme Court ruling on May 17, 1954, set in motion the South's struggle over school integration and many other racial issues. What changes have taken place? What is the outlook?

By DON MCKEE

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A week after the Supreme Court delivered its decision striking down racial segregation in public schools, Georgia's Lt. Gov. Marvin Griffin announced for governor. It was May 24, 1954.

"I will promote and preserve segregation," was Griffin's campaign theme. He pledged to maintain segregated schools, "Come hell or high water."

Griffin was elected. Within two years, he was telling a White Citizens Council meeting at Shreveport, La., that if the choice was to be integrated schools or no schools, "Then we'll have no schools at all."

Griffin's administration — 1955-58 — escaped integration, but his successor had to preside over desegregation in Georgia after an agonizing decision to keep the schools open.

Integration Slight

Twelve years have passed since the court ruling. Less than 7 per cent of the South's 2.9 million Negro pupils are in school with white children.

Integration has come slowly, painfully. Since the 1954 decision, racial violence has claimed at least 41 lives in the South; there have been hundreds of beatings, bombings and fires, thousands of arrests; countless marches, rallies, hearings, trials, injunctions. Desegregation has begun in all of the 11 Southern states.

But statistics cannot measure some things. Marvin Griffin is 58 now, still conservative. But he has different answers to the questions of 12 years ago.

q: Has integration brought about all the terrible things that the segregationists said it would?

a: No. I think the patience of the folks is to be commended. After the Congress passed all these laws, maybe I wasn't favorable to them but we can't go to war about it.

q: Did Georgia do the right thing in keeping its schools open?

a: Yes. I think so.

In Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and South Carolina — the other states that resisted the longest — change has come with suddenness in the past two years.

Mississippi, last state to begin desegregation of schools below college level, took the change quietly at Biloxi in 1964. It was in sharp contrast to the 1963 rioting that left two dead when the University of Mississippi got

Pledge Segregation

In Alabama, Gov. George C. Wallace — campaigning for his wife's stand-in candidacy — did not mention "segregation" this year. In his 1963 inaugural speech, he pledged, "Segregation today, segregation tomorrow, segregation forever."

Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers

ran as a racial moderate in the Democratic governor's race this year, the first candidate to openly seek the new Negro vote in Alabama.

"All the battles have been fought," said Reid Barnes, school board attorney in Bessemer, Ala., after losing a fight against integration last year.

Some tough battles can't be seen or reduced to statistics.

"Everything in my life encouraged me to protest," recalled John Thomas Cochran, 24, who was suspended, but reinstated, by the University of Georgia in 1961 for taking part in disorders after the first two Negroes were admitted.

"We were brought up to believe in segregation," said Cochran in a recent interview. Now his attitude is decidedly different.

"I think my activities at that time were repulsive," he said. "It's shocking to me to look back and see how I was used." Cochran said he was profoundly affected by the assassination of John F. Kennedy. "His death showed me how terrible hate was."

Six years after the 1957 violence over Negroes entering a white school at Little Rock, Ark., three white pupils enrolled in Negro schools. One mother said simply the school was closer to her home. Last Year, a Negro woman joined the faculty of the University of Mississippi Medical School at Jackson.

Texas Schools

Negroes quietly enrolled at schools in Mansfield, Tex., where in 1956 white toughs surrounded the school and barred Negroes.

"Changes are going to come a lot faster in the next few years than they did in the last 12," said Horace T. Ward, 38, an attorney and state senator — one of nine Negroes in the Georgia Legislature.

Ward was the first Negro to file a lawsuit to get into the University of Georgia. That was in 1950. Although he never was admitted — he went to Northwestern — Ward was an attorney for two Negroes who desegregated the university 11 years later.

"Twelve years is not a tremendously long period of time," he said. "My opinion is that there has been significant progress in the South."

Foreign Policy Constant Target Of Fulbright

Senator Criticized Relations From First Harangue in 1945

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., has had something critical to say about American foreign policy ever since he first spoke in the Senate with his maiden speech there in 1945.

And he attempt Tuesday to explain his criticism of President Johnson's foreign policy is not the first time he tried to explain what he said after being criticized for saying it.

In that speech 21 years ago, just a few months after election to the Senate, he complained that for more than two decades American foreign policy had been "improvised from day to day."

As chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee now his words get more attention but through the years he managed to get attention and never more so than with his suggestion about President Harry S. Truman in 1946.

Asked Resignation

As soon as the Republicans gained control of Congress in the elections that year, Fulbright suggested that Truman, who had no vice president, should appoint a Republican to succeed him and then resign.

Truman ignored him publicly, but not off the record, and Fulbright got such a bad reaction that within four days he issued a five-page explanation, saying he had been misunderstood and misinterpreted.

But the explanation was only a repetition of the original statement. He was critical of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's foreign policy, much less critical of President John F. Kennedy's, and then really went to town on Johnson.

Last September he attacked Johnson's use of troops during the revolt in the Dominican Republic last April.

Recent Criticism

Johnson said nothing and relations between the two men became pretty frigid. But in recent months he has piled criticism upon criticism of Johnson's policy in Viet Nam. Two things in particular got attention:

He wondered whether the United States could "ever overcome that arrogance of power" which in some cases had destroyed other nations; and he called the Vietnamese capital of Saigon an "American brothel."

Johnson still hasn't gone after Fulbright directly but last week in a speech at Princeton he jabbed at the senator indirectly, saying in this century American use of power has meant not "arrogance but agony for all Americans."

Presidential Dig

The President took another dig the next night at a Democratic dinner with Fulbright sitting nearby. Johnson said he was delighted to be there with so many old friends and "some members of the Foreign Relations Committee." When Johnson finished, Fulbright applauded lightly and left.

Then once again Tuesday at the National Press Club Fulbright undertook to explain some of the things he had said — like arrogance and brothel — "Because they lent themselves to interpretations I did not intend."

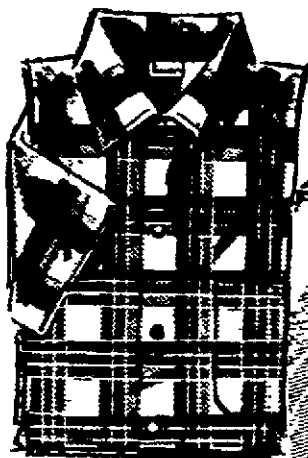

He suggested the press had not accurately conveyed his ideas. But as chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee Fulbright has an enormous responsibility when discussing foreign affairs to take the trouble to express himself so clearly that there is little chance for misunderstanding.

Such is not the case. Historians of the future, if they examine some of Fulbright's recent speeches, will find in them some high-sounding phrases in a vast prairie of vagueness.

Former Manager
Given Top Spot in Production Field

NEENAH — Frank R. Hamilton, production manager at Bergstrom Paper Co. since 1960, was named vice president for production at a meeting of the company's board of directors Tuesday.

The directors also declared a second quarter dividend of 15 cents per share on the company's Class A and B common stock. The dividend will be payable June 15 to stockholders of record June 1.

Hamilton came to Bergstrom from Simpson Paper Co. after having served as technical director, production manager and director of research and development with that firm. Prior to that time, he was with Allied Paper Co. as assistant plant manager.

A graduate of the University of Michigan, he received a B.S. degree in chemical engineering in 1938 and an M.S. degree in 1939 from that institution.

Pupils of Weyauwega Tour Courthouse

WAUPACA — A total of 31 eighth grade pupils from St. Peter Lutheran School, Weyauwega, toured the Waupaca County courthouse Tuesday.

The students were accompanied by Walter Vate, school principal, and were escorted through the courthouse by Robert Backer, county clerk.

County Judge Wendell McHenry spoke briefly to the pupils.

Recognition Convocation

Top Students Honored At Fox Valley Center

MENASHA — Top University of Wisconsin - Fox Valley Center students received awards and honors at the student recognition convocation Tuesday in the Center Fine Arts Theatre.

A top honor went to Tom Mortell, Menasha, who was presented a Student Senate trophy for winning one of 10 all-center conference basketball award as the most improved awards. Bob Bachhuber, assistant coach at Menasha High School and head coach of the Center basketball team, presented the trophy. Mortell graduated from St. Mary High School.

Other awards and recognitions went to members of the basketball and fencing teams and to Center cheerleaders. Prizes for outstanding achievements in forensics, English, journalism, chemistry and physics also were awarded.

Leadership awards went to Keith Gibson, Student Senate president, Appleton; James Cherepow, Neenah; Clarice Hartzheim, Appleton; and Luane Briske, Menasha. Miss Briske is a former Miss Appleton.

3-Week Wait Before City Can Take Action on Bond Issue

MENASHA — There will be a wait of three weeks while the Town of Menasha makes up its mind about sewer service to the new public school before the city can take initial action on a $1,000,000 bond issue.

The common council was told Tuesday night that the town board plans to meet next Monday to discuss the sewer issue. This puts off until the next council meeting, June 7, action on initial resolutions for four bond items.

Disappointment over the delay

Interconnection Approved by 2 City Councils

Menasha, Kaukauna Electric Power Link Awaits PSC Okay

MENASHA — An historic link between Menasha and Kaukauna electric power utilities was approved Tuesday night by the two cities' common councils.

Approval of identical resolutions authorizes a joint committee of the two utilities to apply for a hearing of the proposal before the Public Service Commission, which must make the final ruling on the plan.

As outlined Monday night before a joint meeting of the councils and utility officials of the two communities, savings of some $250,000 per year could be realized by each utility.

Delays New Plants

According to the engineering consultant to the utilities, this would be made possible by putting off major expansions for both generator plants while Menasha would be enabled to sell surplus power and Kaukauna could buy needed additional power for less than from any other source.

The Menasha utility would have to spend an initial $650,000, but would balance the cost against savings in three years, it was pointed out. In addition, Menasha would put off an additional generator installation until 1979 under the cooperative plan. Remaining unconnected, Menasha would need the addition in 1973.

The equipment postponements would be made possible first by Kaukauna buying power from Menasha's present surplus capacity, later by Menasha buying from Kaukauna as that city's plant is enlarged and Menasha's power needs grow.

To Observe Festival

Catholic, Lutheran Churches Plan Ascension Day Services

Thursday, 40 days after Easter, is Ascension Day, a day the Bible says the Lord commissioned his apostles to preach the Gospel to all nations and having blessed them, ascended into heaven.

The ascension of Christ has long been considered one of the major festivals by the Christian Church, which believes that though He ascended into glory, He was not parted or separated from his church.

In observance of this festival, special services and masses have been scheduled by the Lutheran and Catholic churches in Appleton.

—A special meeting of the finance committee at 6 p.m. arising out of an incident following Monday's committee meeting in which an alderman and department head are involved.

The board of public works got halfway through its business Tuesday afternoon and then went on a bus trip of present and potential industrial sites. The trip was arranged by the Appleton Area Chamber of Commerce.

Parking Ramp
Still to be acted on by the board sometime today before the council meets is the latest recommendation on the proposed Soldiers Square parking ramp-mall complex.

Several routine public works projects will also have to be approved tonight or be delayed for another two weeks or a month.

won, the national organization entered the fight against birth defects, knowing well that interest would wane because the public was not aware of the problem.

Birth Defects

Birth defects, some of which do not appear until later in life, affect one of every 16 persons, he said. Five to 10 times as many are affected every year as in the biggest polio epidemic but the public feels birth defects "happen to someone else."

The same techniques which won the battle against polio will win the current fight, Williams said. They are treatment and therapy and prevention. "The only unknown is when."

Russell said strides are being made, greater perhaps than the public knows. Treatment centers are expanding and providing earlier diagnosis and better care. Work on prevention also is continuing.

City Council Address System Is Considered

Present Facility Deemed Inadequate; Action Deferred

It will cost a minimum of $2,350 to outfit the Appleton city council chambers with improved public address facilities, members of the board of public works were informed at their Tuesday meeting.

Their collective reaction was that the cost of sound is getting to be inflationary.

However, aldermen and others attending public meetings in the chambers have long complained it is difficult to hear.

Informal Quote

As a result, Public Works Director Robert W. Bues was asked to get an informal quote on what it would cost to help everyone be heard.

Providing 10 shaker-type microphones for 20 aldermen (one microphone to a pair), along with mikes for the mayor, clerk, city attorney and two in the audience area, would cost the $2,350.

If each alderman got a microphone it would be $3,550.

And if the council was to install an electronic voting device to record roll calls, it would cost an additional $450.

Cut-Off Switch

There was also one other "accessory" — a cut-off switch to be operated by the mayor which could silence the rest of the microphones if "his honor" so desired.

The board was undecided on just how far to go but indicated something would have to be done to improve the public address system in the chambers.

Finance director Henry Schreve was asked to comment. "There's no money for this in the budget," he said.

The board by a 4 to 3 vote then deferred action until its next meeting.

Extension Chancellor To Discuss 'Learning'

Dr. McNeil Will Speak at FVC Awards Night Program Thursday

Dr. Donald R. McNeil, chancellor of the University Extension Center System.

Center students who have won scholarships will be honored at the program. McNeil, who became Extension chancellor in October of 1965, will discuss "Life-Long Learning."

Assisted UW President

A graduate of the University of Wisconsin in American history, McNeil, prior to his appointment as chancellor, served as a special assistant to UW President Fred Harvey Harrington, with responsibility for University foundation relations and new program development.

McNeil helped establish Wisconsin's exchange program with three predominantly Negro southern colleges, a university scholarship program for disadvantaged students, remedial reading clinics and counseling services in Milwaukee, consumer education programs, the UW Institute for Human Relations and a midwestern consortium for graduate school preparation for Negroes.

McNeil is the author of two books, "The American Collector" and "The Fight for Fluoridation," and another book, co-authored with the late UW historian William Hesselstine, won an award of merit from the American Association of State and Local History in 1958.

White House Meeting

In 1964 McNeil chaired both the Big-Ten Inter-University Conference on the Negro and the committee which wrote a "Blueprint for action" for American universities. In 1965 he was appointed to the American Council on Education's standing committee on higher education for adults.

McNeil helped frame Title I of the Higher Education Act of 1965 which supports extension and continuing education. As UW representative to the 1965 White House Conference on Education he wrote the background paper on undergraduate education. He has also served as consultant to the U.S. Public Health Service and the Office of Economic Opportunity.

The program and a reception following in the student lounge is open to the public.

local governments purchase surplus cropland for conversion to recreation and conservation uses.

The Cropland Adjustment Program seeks to shift cropland not presently needed for production to recreation and conservation uses on a long-term basis.

It is a supplement to the annual commodity programs which divert surplus cropland on a year-to-year basis. Greenspan is a provision of CAP which helps local governments purchase surplus cropland for conversion to recreation and conservation uses.

Racine Man Plans To Restore Old Stagecoach Inn

ONLY, ILL. (AP)—A Wisconsin man says he plans to restore a historic stagecoach inn, and is asking southern Illinoisans to search attics for the data he needs.

The reconstruction is to be a summer vacation project of Ralph S. Yobe of Racine, Wis., editor of the Wisconsin Agriculturalist and a native of Mount Erie, Ill., a town near the site of the old McCawley House. The inn served travelers using the St. Louis-Vincennes trace, a former stage route now marked by U.S. 50.

Yobe, a McCawley descendant, is asking residents of the area to search family scrapbooks for information concerning the inn's original appearance and history.

The inn, built at a crossing of the Little Wabash River, was believed abandoned about a century ago. It and some structures added to it by farmers have fallen into ruin.

But Yobe said it is in better shape than other inns along the former trace, a pioneer route that became known as the westernmost extension of the Cumberland Trail.

INDOORS and OUT!

For generations, folks have been trying to repair wall cracks by filling them, but always give up in despair. And no wonder. Walls constantly expand and contract with temperature and humidity changes. Brittle crack-fillers compress or pull apart, and open-up or fall out. Until Tuff-Kote, the only way to make a permanent repair was replacing the entire wall.

CRACKS DISAPPEAR FOREVER

Now, however, this problem is solved once and for all by a simple application of Tuff-Kote that spans cracks with a thin, pliable, high-strength patch, instead of filling them. This convenient repair is invisible when painted, stronger than the wall itself, and does the job forever. No chipping, no wire mesh, no fuss or muss. There has never been anything like it. Outstanding advantages for many other home uses, too, indoors and out. Everyone is an expert with Tuff-Kote!

Kohler, Downer Names Memorialized

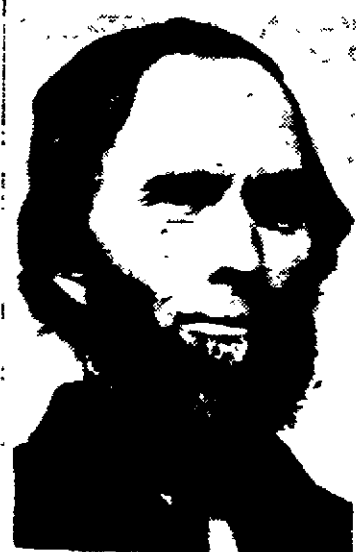

Two names from the combined histories of Lawrence and Milwaukee-Downer Colleges will be memorialized in buildings to appear soon on the Lawrence University campus.

A food service center for 600 will be named for Judge Jason Downer, who contributed a legacy and his name to a forerunner of Milwaukee-Downer College. A seven-story residence hall for 125 women will bear the name of Ruth DeYoung Kohler, the late Mrs. Herbert V. Kohler of Kohler, who was a Lawrence trustee from 1945 until her death in 1953.

Jason Downer, a native of Vermont, graduated from Dartmouth College in 1836, read law in Kentucky, and in 1842 moved to Milwaukee where he was the first editor of the Milwaukee Sentinel, which he assisted in establishing when he was 29 years old.

Supreme Court Service After 1845 he devoted himself to the law, and from 1864-67 was an associate justice of the Wisconsin Supreme Court institution, its name was changed while Judge Byron Paine served in and recuperating with Milwaukee College and from the Civil War.

He became interested in Wisconsin until 1964, the hyphenated name Milwaukee-Downer College was used. When Milwaukee-

Judge Jason Downer

Downer College merged with Lawrence, the name Downer College for Women came into use once more, as one of the coordinate units within Lawrence University.

Other memorials to the Downer name existing over the last century have been Downer Hall, which was built at the old Wisconsin Female College campus in Fox Lake, and toward which Judge Downer was the chief donor: a home for retired ministers in Milwaukee; and Downer Avenue in the city of Milwaukee.

Mrs. Kohler, a historian, journalist and homemaker, graduated from Smith College with Phi Beta Kappa honors in history. Her father, Frederic R. DeYoung of Chicago, was a former chief justice of the Illinois Supreme Court.

After completing graduate studies at the University of London and the Sorbonne, she joined the editorial staff of the Chicago Tribune, where she became women's editor and organized that newspaper's annual Women's Congress, a non-partisan forum on current events.

Cultural Projects After 1937, when she married Herbert V. Kohler, board chairman with Wisconsin's 1948 centennial celebration. In the latter

Mrs. Herbert Kohler

Kohler Co., she lived in the Village of Kohler and initiated community activities and cultural projects that were state-wide in scope. Three children were born to the Kohlers.

She was vice president and curator of the State Historical Society, founder and first president of its Women's Auxiliary, and chairman of the Committee on Wisconsin Women in conjunction with Wisconsin's 1948 centennial celebration. In the latter capacity she designed the Women's Building for the Centennial Exposition at Milwaukee, and wrote two books, "The Story of Wisconsin Women" and "Wisconsin's Historic Sites."

For her part in the Wisconsin Centennial, Mrs. Kohler received the Theodore Youngmans Award for Distinguished Citizens from the Wisconsin Federation of Women's Clubs, and was honored by the State Historical Society and the American Association of State and Local History.

Restored Wade House Ruth DeYoung Kohler planned and directed all details of the restoration and furnishing of Old Wade House, one of Wisconsin's earliest stage coach inns at Greenbush. In June, 1953 the land and rejuvenated buildings were given by the Kohler Foundation, Inc., to the State of Wisconsin as an attractive and historically complete state park.

Mrs. Kohler was a trustee of Lawrence, of the Westminster Choir College at Princeton, N.J., of the Layton School of Art in Milwaukee, and of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. She received an honorary doctor of laws from Ripon College in 1952.

She was a member of the National Laymen's and Laywomen's Committee of the National Council of Churches and representative for the Great Lakes zone in the National Trust for Historic Preservation. Mrs. Kohler was also a member of the board of directors of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and was vice president of the State Conference of the American Association of University Women.

She was the chairman of the Kohler Women's Club, the largest federated women's club in Wisconsin, and in 1944 organized the club's Distinguished Guest Series. Through her efforts scores of world-famous artists, writers, political leaders and figures in the entertainment world were brought to Kohler. In addition the club under Mrs. Kohler's leadership carried forward a program of constructive activity that has prevailed humanitarian projects and civic since.

Moyers' Condition 'Not Serious' After Fall

BETHESDA, Md. (AP) — Bill D. Moyers, President Johnson's press secretary, was admitted Monday night to Bethesda Naval Hospital for observation after falling down a flight of stairs at the White House. A hospital spokesman said Moyers' condition was "not serious." Moyers was admitted about 9 p.m. after reportedly calling his personal physician who told him to go to the hospital for examination.

Accelerated Highway Bill Support Grows With Backing

Assembly Test Vote Possible Next Week; Bond, Tax Hearings Today

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — A bi-partisan highway construction acceleration bill appeared to be picking up support today after its endorsement by the joint Legislative Council and a unanimous vote of the public press. Reporters' support today after its endorsement by the joint Legislative Council and a unanimous vote of the public press. Reporters' support today after its endorsement by the joint Legislative Council and a unanimous vote of the public press.

A test vote in the assembly on the measure may be provided as early as next week, depending upon the public's reactions to the idea of a limited bonding program and an increase of one cent in the motor fuel tax at a $26,000,000 bonding authorization hearing scheduled here this afternoon.

Sponsors of the measure have argued in several respects, with the evident purpose of disarming some of the opposition of the plan. The bill also backed by Gov. Warren P. Knowles and also supported by Democratic Speaker Robert H. La Follette Jr. and Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey, the ranking Democratic officeholder in the state government.

Council Endorsement
Developments Tuesday which encouraged the sponsors of the bill to make it effective on the first of the month following passage of the act.

Gasoline Tax Boost
The advisory committee, perhaps with an eye on the fall by the joint highways advisory elections, had suggested that the boost in the gasoline tax byman Jerome Blaska of Sun Prairie, effect next January 1. But Huber, chairman of the Legislative Council, noted that such a postponement would cost about $7 million in revenues and said it contradicted the claim that the highway needs of the state constitute an emergency.

The fate of the bill now evidently depends upon the respective influence of Huber and Assemblyman Frank Nikolay of Clark County, the Democratic majority floorleader, among the assembly majority Democrats Nikolay continues to oppose the bill and voted against it in the Council session Tuesday.

Joe Bananas Freed, Keeps Hideout Secret

NEW YORK (AP) — Cosa Nostra boss Joseph (Joe Bananas) Bonanno is free on $150,000 bail today, guarding the secret of where he was for the last 19 months while federal authorities searched for him around the world.

Bonanno's lawyer has said he probably will stay at the home of his son, Salvatore, in East Meadow on Long Island until time to go back to U.S. District Court to face trial on an obstruction of justice indictment. Bonanno, 61, was released on bail, guaranteed by members of his family, several hours after he walked into the U.S. courthouse Tuesday and surrendered. The $150,000 bond was posted by the Stuyvesant Insurance Co. of the Bronx for a premium of $4,530.

As collateral to protect the bonding company, Bonanno's brother-in-law, Frank Labruzzo, put up his home in Queens and Bonanno's wife, Faye, and her sister, Marian de Pasquale, put up two parcels of real estate in Tucson, Ariz., where Bonanno has a luxurious home, the U.S. attorney's office said.

Sigher Not Bored — Just Airing Lungs

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Why do we sigh? Are we merely weary or depressed? Neither, we sigh because we have to, says Dr. W. J. Murray, a University of North Carolina anesthesiologist.

Sighing is a physiological function which — like yawning — ventilates the lungs, he told a medical symposium of the Instrument Society of America at Disneyland Tuesday.

Even when we feel on top of the world we sigh at least twice in an hour, Murray said.

Underwriting County Bond Costs Possible

State Treasury Aid Way to Quicken Building of Bridges

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — State treasury underwriting of county highway bond issue interest costs may provide a means for localities to accelerate the construction of needed new highway bridges, the state legislature was told Tuesday.

A newly added provision of the highway acceleration bill before the legislature would offer a new state aid program to cover borrowing costs of counties for local state highway projects and improvements of connecting streets including bridges, it was explained.

Assemblyman Jerome Blaska of Dane County, chairman of a highways advisory committee which completed the draft of the bill Tuesday, said the provision may be of special interest in Brown County in connection with the desired replacement of the Mason Street bridge crossing the Fox River downtown. It may appeal also in other counties that contain cities with bridge needs that are difficult to finance out of local resources, he said.

Tax Increase
Money for such interest underwriting would be provided through the increase of the motor fuel tax from six cents to seven cents a gallon as contained in the construction speedup bill.

Counties for many years have issued state highway construction bonds with the encouragement of the state and have made principal payments on regular state highway fund allotment would probably be sufficient to finance the Mason Street bridge replacement over hours.

But the counties have been responsible for paying debt service charges out of their own funds, and that requirement has sometimes been a deterrent, Thomas Hart, chief of the

'66 Election Image to be Decided, Hopefully Without Fuss, by GOP

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Only one outright battle is promised at the Wisconsin Republican convention this weekend, but a subtle revolution is nevertheless being waged.

The one surface skirmish is to decide who should carry the party's support for attorney general.

The quieter struggle—one that Republicans would prefer to keep a private family affair—is to decide what image the party will carry into the 1966 election campaign and beyond.

The most dramatic development so far was the announcement Tuesday that George Haberman, the president of the Wisconsin State AFL-CIO, would address the convention. He will be the first labor leader to appear before a Republican convention in more than 30 years.

Moderate Image
The invitation to Haberman was viewed as a significant step in the efforts of Gov. Warren P. Knowles to give the party a more moderate image than it has enjoyed in the past.

Party Support
Convention endorsement carries the organization a financial and political support, although a fight for the nomination in the Sept. 6 primary could still develop.

A fight also could erupt at the convention as a backlash to earlier moves by Knowles' personally picked Republican state chairman, Ody J. Fish, to soften the image of the party in popular Milwaukee County.

The State Executive Committee revoked the Milwaukee County party's charter Jan. 15 and set up a new organization with a less conservative image.

Fish has called repeatedly for the party to appeal more to independent voters.

The two-day convention starts Friday with Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., the keynote speaker. Knowles will speak Friday night at a dinner for county chairmen.

Youth Dies Returning In Ambulance From Accident in California
DODGEVILLE (AP) — A Wisconsin Rapids teenager being brought home by ambulance after a California traffic crash died Tuesday at a Dodgeville hospital.

The youth was Peter Jehn, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Jehn of rural Wisconsin Rapids. Authorities said Jehn was injured May 1 in a California accident.

Air Force Borrows Bombs for Strikes

Congressional Testimony Reveals Diversions From Navy Since 1964

By BOB HORTON
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has had to borrow more than 400,000 bombs from the Navy to help carry out its air strikes in Viet Nam, it was learned today.

The Defense Department provided this figure in response to questions after the bomb diversion came to light in congressional testimony released Tuesday.

A Pentagon spokesman said that between Jan. 1, 1964 and April 30, 1966 "The Navy made available to the Air Force from Navy inventories slightly more than 400,000 bombs of various types and sizes."

The great bulk of this supply was turned over to the Air Force before this year, the spokesman said. No breakdown by year was given but presumably most of the bombs were diverted last year. Air strikes were first launched in North and South Viet Nam in February 1965.

Various Sizes
The Navy uses 250- and 500-pound sizes. Depending on how many of each were provided, the Air Force received between 50,000 and 100,000 tons of ammunition.

Officials reported today U.S. forces are striking heavily at what may be the Viet Cong's greatest weakness — his stomach.

Since the year began, the officials said, American troops have captured more than 7,500 tons of rice and well over 400 tons of salt.

Both are basic foods which the Communists cannot ship from North Viet Nam, as they did and was being driven home after surgery. His condition worsened as the ambulance reached Southwestern Wisconsin and he was taken to St. Joseph Hospital here where he died shortly after admission.

Current Inventory
Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said 61,000 tons of bombs was on inventory in Southeast Asia last month, with 30,000 tons dropped in March alone against Communist forces in Viet Nam.

McNamara has said repeatedly that no bomb shortage has adversely affected the war effort. In response to press reports about such gaps he told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in April that the United States this year will drop 638,000 tons of bombs — 91 per cent of the entire tonnage dropped in 37 months of the Korean War.

The production of 750-pound bombs — an Air Force favorite — was halted in the mid-1950s, and fresh stocks won't be available off newly established production lines until about July.

Existing supplies are being given away as surplus.

do their arms and other supplies, but must collect in South Viet Nam.

Rice Ration
Authorities, assuming a Communist soldier eats about two pounds of rice a day, estimate that the 7,500 tons taken represented food for 125,000 men for two months.

This does not take account of other supplies destroyed by bombing and artillery fire.

There is no claim that the Viet Cong are starving, or approaching that point. But Communist prisoners have told interrogators of going hungry. And officials noted that hunger can lead to weakened morale.

The disclosure that the Air Force has borrowed the 400,000 bombs from the Navy seemed to indicate that the Air Force has been confronted with a significant, if not serious, problem of bomb supplies in the face of increased war activity.

Kaukauna to Seek PSC Okay For Interconnection System

Council Authorizes Utility Action for Menasha Linkup

KAUKAUNA — The Kaukauna city council Tuesday night authorized the Utility Commission to apply to the Wisconsin Public Service Commission (PSC) for approval of an interconnection system between the Kaukauna and Menasha electric utilities.

Cost of transmission lines, substations and switch gear to make the interconnection of systems possible has been estimated at $650,000 for Menasha and $350,000 for Kaukauna, but savings to the communities per year have been estimated at $250,000 for Menasha and $220,000 for Kaukauna.

The system would provide emergency power for both communities in event of a power failure or breakdown in the other area. A study of the interconnection has been made by the utility commissions of the two communities for more than a year. It is felt such a system would be of mutual benefit and protection for both communities.

More Storms Hit Midwest

Tornadoes Strike In Four States During Night

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Severe thunderstorms broke across a broad belt in the Midwest during the night, with storm warnings in effect for nine states.

Tornadoes struck small communities and rural areas in parts of Oklahoma, Arkansas, Missouri and Illinois but there were no reports of serious injuries or heavy property damage. Violent wind and thunderstorms lashed across many parts of Missouri, Arkansas and Illinois. Severe storms also hit sections of Mississippi, Tennessee, Kentucky, Indiana, Michigan and Ohio.

Twisters hit Okemah and Wellitska, both in central Oklahoma, and others were sighted over Drumright and Oilton in the eastern part of the state. Heavy hail and winds of 70 miles swept Bristow, Okla., 40 miles southwest of Tulsa, and hail also peppered an area about 35 miles northeast of Tulsa.

Ozark Hail

Hail pelted the Ozarks region in Missouri and tornadoes hit near Osage Beach, Mo., and 10 miles northwest of Fayetteville, Ark. In Illinois a twister struck about 20 miles southwest of Peoria and a funnel cloud was spotted at Mazon, 45 miles northeast.

Hail and 60-mile winds caused some damage at Vandalia, Ill., 50 miles east of St. Louis, Mo. The rain belt in Illinois extended into northern sections and into Indiana, Michigan and Ohio.

The storms in the Midwest spread eastward along a cold front that extends from Wisconsin to northern Texas. Cool air moved southward from the Northwest and north-central states and frost and freeze warnings were posted for sections of the northern Rockies.

But warm, summer-like weather prevailed across the southern tier of states. Temperatures in some Texas cities hit above 100 degrees again Tuesday.

Kaukauna Considers Reassessment of City

Finance Committee to Report Findings Aug. 2; Last Revision 30 Years Ago

KAUKAUNA — The Council Tuesday night authorized the finance committee to investigate ways, means and cost of a property reassessment in the city and report back with their findings Aug. 2. The council hopes to implement the reassessment prior to adopting the 1967 budget.

Ald. Richard Helf (4th) noted that the city has had no reassessment since 1937. Ald. William Rogers (5th), however, said cost was not important if the city was really needed. He thought the city should decide if they wanted a reassessment before the council.

Low bid of Klitzke-Felton, Black Creek, of $2.10 per lineal foot for 3,860 feet of curb and gutter was accepted. Total cost was $8,106 or about $1,400 lower than the next low bid. Seven bids were received.

Low bid of $4.29 per square yard for installation of $14,270 square yards of concrete went to Parker Construction Co. of Appleton. Total cost was $61,218 or about $1,000 below the second of the five bids received.

Approval was given to the extension of sanitary sewer to be met. Two homes on Boyd Avenue at Aldermen approved installation of $6,300 of 900 square yards of existing sewer asphalt paving at the swimming pool as parking area, granting attorney was instructed to study the contract with the sewer contractor to determine if any limits were placed on extending the contract.

Aldermen approved installation of 80 feet of concrete square pipe in the Glenview Avenue ravine area. It will permit extension of a walkway from Glenview for children attending the new Quinney School. No cost estimate was made.

A resolution approving the revision of city ordinances was adopted and a public hearing set for 7 p.m. June 7 on the northeastern edge of the community.

An opinion from the state indicated the council should issue liquor licenses for picnics and special events on a day-to-day basis to organizations and individuals or on a seasonal basis during the summer. The council requested a ruling on whether it was legal to issue beer licenses for three days at a time for picnics or other special events. The seasonal license will be studied.

Youth Admits Theft at Bear Creek

A 15-year-old Bear Creek youth who admitted to Outagamie County investigators last Friday that he helped set four railroad ties on tracks just north of Bear Creek in an attempt to derail a Chicago and North Western Railroad freight train, signed a statement at the county jail Tuesday saying he also took some money from the Bear Creek post office April 11 and entered the high school several times to take soda and petty cash.

The youth also told Outagamie County investigators Tuesday that he was involved in several shoplifting incidents at a Bear Creek supermarket. He said he took $1.25 from the post office, cash totaling less than $1 from the school, and about a carton of cigarettes from the store.

He denied having any part in the April 29 theft of $25 from a Bear Creek restaurant. The youth is being held in the Outagamie County jail pending appearance in juvenile court.

Green Goddess

Caesar Salad

Palace Court

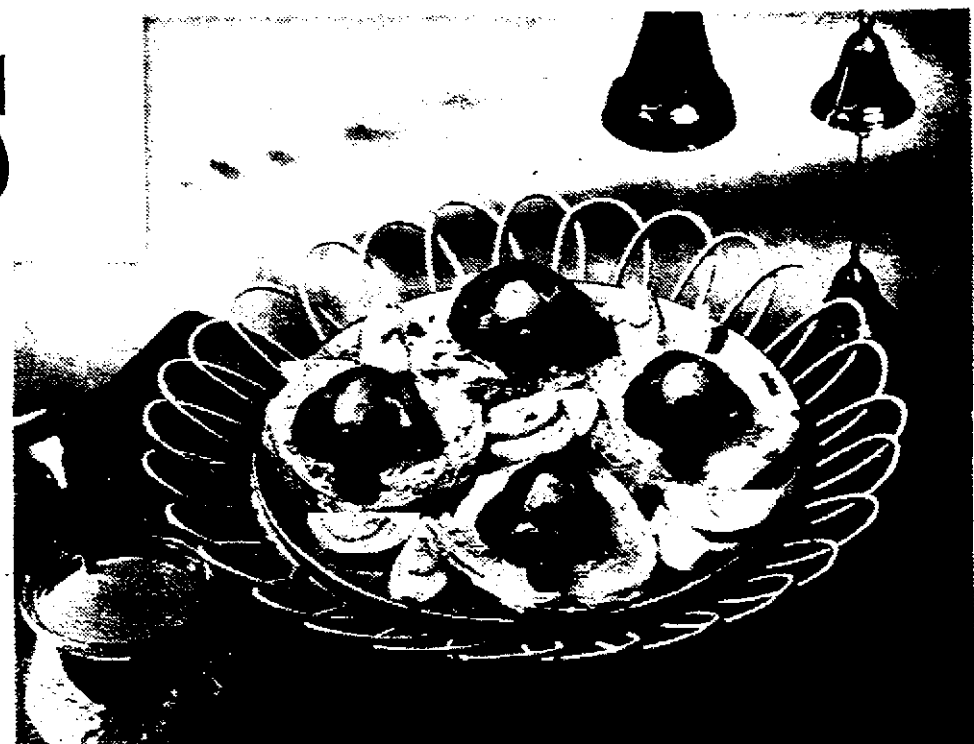

Salad Classics

POST-CRESCENT FOOD EDITOR
Lillian Mackesy

There's an art to making a good salad and the best place in the world to find out how it's done is America's West coast. California chefs long have been creating masterpieces from salad greens, fruits and dressings to make them current classics. Most of the names are familiar but few remember how these salads started on their way to fame.

Remember Britisher George Arliss, the great actor with the monocle who could hold an audience in the palm of his hand? It was for him that the Green Goddess Salad was named... and it's the dressing that makes this salad famous in the culinary field. It all happened back in 1915 when Arliss was the star of a play "The Green Goddess," one of his successful drawing room comedies.

Chef Philip Roemer at the old Palace Hotel in San Francisco gathered available greens (an old California custom) together, crisped them well and set to work concocting a "dressing divine" to honor his favorite actor. The resulting Green Goddess Salad was served at the hotel for the first time on opening night of the play.

Bell Ringer

Thousand Island that's served with the Palace Court Salad. In today's recipe, the cooked petals of the artichoke form the salad base instead of shredded lettuce, also used quite often. The artichoke bottom carefully is kept whole and is used as a pedestal for the tiny shrimp.

Another Food Story
Caesar Salad, named for its chef creator, also has a glamorous background. This salad today is a favorite appetizer course on the West coast and many restaurants there make a "great-to-do" when serving it. The paper flowers and Mexican shaped bowls help identify its country of origin, but few know its story.

During the days of prohibition in the United States, the famous horse racing resort, Agua Caliente in Tijuana, Mexico, became the place to go. One night the base of the Palace Court Salad. This one has an interesting history, too. The Palace Hotel in San Francisco is the originator of this beautiful salad, created especially for service in its Garden Court. The dressing used today with this salad, Thousand Island Dressing, was born in our own Midwest at the old Blackstone Hotel in Chicago. Chef Theo Rooms is credited as its originator, and the recipe was known as Blackstone Dressing in 1910, the date of the hotel's grand opening. It was made especially for that very special opening night. Over the years the name has changed to Thousand Island Dressing.

Today, both the dressing and the salad come in many variations. However, it's usually a unique salad on her own when unexpected guests arrive. Lettuce or a combination of greens can be substituted for Caesar's original romaine.

The other two classics also come from the West and in spite of a seeming lack of glamor background, they are just as delicious as the others when it comes to taste.

It goes without saying that an inventive hostess can borrow Caesar's technique to make a

1 tablespoon anchovy paste
1 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup sour cream
3 tablespoons of tarragon vinegar
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice

Combine the ingredients as listed and blend. Recipe makes two cups. When ready to serve, add to prepared salad greens or serve separately and let guests add their own.

To be placed on the block are such varied items as a deer head now over the living room fireplace, marble-base floor lamps, commodes, mirrors, flower boxes and plants, draperies, oil lamps, dining room, living room and bedroom furnishings, stone crocks and mason jars, a cabbage shredder, rugs, ash trays, a Schmitzbank, books and a few antique pieces.

John Gillespie, Rawhide director, has announced that plans are to replace the present furnishings with sturdy ranch oak pieces, made to withstand wear and time. Rawhide directors are attempting to make the project self-supporting without state or welfare support.

refrigerate a few hours before preparation time.

Cut crosswise slices of lettuce about one inch thick. Cut a bell shaped green pepper in circles. Put the circle of pepper on top of the lettuce slice; a pickled or marinated artichoke heart in the center. Cut in half, lengthwise, a pitted ripe or green olive put at the base of the pepper ring to look like a bell clapper. Recipe makes six servings on individual salad plates or arranged on a large glass plate.

DRESSING FOR BELL RINGER SALAD
2 tablespoons red wine vinegar
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Pinch dried tarragon
1/4 teaspoon salt
Dash white pepper
1/4 cup olive oil

In a bowl set in ice, blend together vinegar, dry mustard, Worcestershire sauce, tarragon, salt and white pepper. Gradually whip in third-cup olive oil, blending until smooth. Recipe makes about third-cup dressing.

PALACE COURT SALAD
Remove the petals of a cooked artichoke carefully from the base. Arrange them attractively on a cold salad plate. Place a slice of juicy ripe tomato in the center of the petals. Press two hard-cooked egg yolks through a strainer. Spoon on top of the slice of tomato. Place the trimmed artichoke bottom in the center of the riced egg yolks. Top with fresh or canned cooked baby shrimps — about 2 ounces. Serve with creamy Thousand Island Dressing. Makes one serving.

WESTERN THOUSAND ISLAND DRESSING
1 cup mayonnaise
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
Dash cayenne
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon ketchup
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons chopped sweet pickles or pickle relish
2 teaspoons chopped parsley
1/2 cup finely-chopped celery
1 1/2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
1 tablespoon finely-chopped onion

Combine all ingredients; mix well and chill, allowing flavors to blend. Recipe makes one and one-half cups dressing.

WESTERN SEAFOOD SALAD
1 head iceberg lettuce
1/2 bunch romaine
1/2 pound cooked shrimp or crab legs

Prepare salad greens ahead so they are cold and crisp. Tear into bite-size pieces. Add seafood when ready to prepare. Toss with enough dressing to coat greens.

OIL-VINEGAR DRESSING
1 cup salad oil
1/2 cup tarragon vinegar
1/2 teaspoon salt, crushed with 1 clove garlic
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Fresh ground pepper

Combine all ingredients in covered container or blender. Shake well before using. Flavor improves if it is made before serving and allowed to chill. Recipe makes about one and one-half cups dressing.

one-fourth cups dressing.

CAESAR SALAD
1 bunch romaine
1/2 head iceberg lettuce
1 clove garlic
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/4 cup olive oil
1/2 cup freshly grated Parmesan cheese
1 fresh lemon
1 egg
1 cup garlic cheese crostons

Break cold, crisp romaine and lettuce into bite-size pieces into a large wooden bowl.

Mash finely the garlic clove with the salt, add mustard, pepper and sauce; blend in the oil.

Pour over the greens; add cheese, juice of fresh lemon.

Break egg on top and toss all of the ingredients until each piece of green is coated. Add the crostons on the last toss. Recipe makes four servings.

How to teach a hot dog new tricks:

1. Before you start teaching a hot dog, you have to preheat your oven to 375°. Then you can go ahead and unroll the dough from 1 can of Pillsbury Quick Crescent Dinner Rolls (in the dairy case because it's fresh dough) and separate the dough into 8 triangles.

2. Now, slit 8 Jefferson Wieners lengthwise and insert 2 strips of Kraft Cracker Barrel Brand Cheddar in each. Place a cheese-filled hot dog on each triangle and roll up as directed on label.

3. Place the crescents on a greased cookie sheet, cheese side up. Bake at 375° for 10 to 15 minutes or until golden brown. Serve hot.

There.

You've just taught a hot dog how to be a Wiener 'n Cheese Crescent. And if you really want to be clever, spread a little prepared mustard or catsup and pickle relish on the crescents before rolling.

Do that, and you've taught a hot dog another new trick! Every hot dog should know at least two tricks.

Finesses Helpful if You Study

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

You don't have to be a deep student of the game to take a finesse when an opponent holds the king of trumps. In the recent Intercollegiate Championships several thousand college students discovered that other finesses may be deeper.

West took his top diamonds and led a third diamond for East to ruff. East returned a club to dummy's ace, and now several thousand collegians had the problem of making four spades with the South hand.

Nobody had any trouble with the first play — a spade finesse. But West's discard made it clear that South had to get to dummy twice more for trump finesses and one other time to discard a club on the ten of diamonds

How could South get to dummy three times? Only by way of hearts. Hence South had to finesse with the ten of hearts in the hope that West held the jack.

Immediate Finesse

South's best play is to lead a low heart and try an immediate finesse with dummy's ten. When this works declarer leads another trump from dummy for a second trump finesse. Back to dummy with the queen of hearts, and a third trump finesse. Then South leads the ace of trumps to capture the king.

Finally South leads the king of hearts to dummy's ace and cashes the ten of diamonds to get rid of the losing club.

South might go down if he began the hearts by leading low to dummy's queen. The next time South led a low heart West might brilliantly put up the jack. Dummy would have to win with the ace, and then dummy would get only two heart entries instead of the three that South needs to make his contract.

Daily Question

Dealer bids a spade, partner doubles, and the next player passes. You hold: SK 5 4 3 2, H 7 3 2, D 4 3, C 6 3 2. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two clubs. Your spades are not good enough for a penalty pass. In a situation of this kind, bid your lowest-ranking three-card suit (Copyright, 1966)

Your Problems

Husband's Comments About Expected 'Boy' Hurt Wife

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I are expecting our first child in about eight weeks. We've been married seven years and had almost given up hope, so of course this child means a great deal to us.

I can truthfully say I don't care if it's a boy or a girl, and at first my husband didn't care either. But these past couple of months he has been making some very unsettling remarks to friends, relatives — anyone who will listen. Last night he told my mother, "If it isn't a boy, it's for sale."

I laughed it off when he first began to say such things, but it's no longer funny. I'm beginning to think he actually has his heart set on a boy and if it's a girl he will be terribly disappointed.

We live in a small town and everyone has heard about my husband's remarks. I've had a difficult pregnancy and this isn't making it any easier. Please give me some help — Weary.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm not a father and I tried to make her understand that if she married the young man she might have to do without many of the things she took for granted. The day before Melanie eloped I screamed at us, "I don't care if we never have a dime, but I want him!" So now she has a "him" (who prefers to work a night shift so he can play golf during the day) plus five children and plenty of unpaid bills. Last night Melanie said I would be very nice if her father and I gave them $5,000 so they could get out of debt and take a trip. "We've never been anywhere since our honeymoon," she complained.

Expectant fathers who voice a preference for either a boy or a girl baby cause their wives embarrassment and anxiety. Moreover they look like fools because, invariably, the ones who scream the loudest for boys end up so goofy about their daughters that they are positively obnoxious.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Eight years ago our daughter Melanie married a young man who was notably lacking in ambition. Her father and I tried to make her understand that if she married the young man she might have to do without many of the things she took for granted. The day before Melanie eloped I screamed at us, "I don't care if we never have a dime, but I want him!" So now she has a "him" (who prefers to work a night shift so he can play golf during the day) plus five children and plenty of unpaid bills. Last night Melanie said I would be very nice if her father and I gave them $5,000 so they could get out of debt and take a trip. "We've never been anywhere since our honeymoon," she complained.

When her father failed to show much enthusiasm for Melanie's suggestion, both she and her husband became hostile. They called us "tightwads," selfish and abnormal." They claim that parents who can afford to help their children out with money gifts have a moral obligation to do so. "Why wait until you die?" Melanie shouted. "If you give us money now we won't have to pay inheritance taxes!"

Will you comment, please?

The R's:

Dear R's: Parents have moral obligations to raise their children to be independent and self-reliant. They do not owe their children gifts and continued financial support after marriage. And they don't owe them an inheritance either.

Giving can be a joy, but your children are trying to chisel money from you — and that takes it out of the gift class.

Your daughter is employing emotional blackmail. Don't let her ugly remarks push you into giving her or her golf-playing husband one dime more than you want to give them.

Working Wife Wants Chore Saving Devices

BY SYLVIA PORTER

married women will top the per cent among single, widowed or a door-to-door survey of housewives during a weekday after-noon and then bases policy on the findings is not getting an and 36.5 per cent for the accurate picture of America's widowed and divorced.

The proportion of women in their middle years who hold jobs is climbing steadily. Of all women 35 to 44, nearly half are now at work or looking for work and the proportion will grow to 50 per cent by 1960. Of all women 45 to 54, more than half are now at work or looking and this ratio will grow to 59.5 per cent by 1960.

Percentage Growing

Before 1950, less than one-quarter of all married women were in the labor force. By 1960 it will be 42 1/2 per cent.

Whenever the experts discuss why Mrs. America goes to work, they come up with one no matter how well designed, overwhelming reason: financial will fail to represent today's necessity.

Way down on the list is the simple desire for the rewards of the advertising firm of Foote, Cone & Belding. The resulting this reason, stated or not, is distortion may be slight for fundamental in a far greater some products, such as baby number of instances than is foods, but it may be very great appreciated. Many wives work indeed for others, ranging from outside the home because they cosmetics to desired types of want to escape working inside the home and they don't care if a virtually all their earnings go to point of saturation in the pay for substitute housekeeping; working wife's demand for many work because they don't chore - lightening appliances, want to be dependent on their gadgets and convenience foods husbands for every penny they is way off base. The larger the can spend.

The implications of the work- ing wife, her age and her larger our demand for any thing, motivations are still only dimly or non-thing which will make' understood.

There is no doubting FC & B's observations about the market- ing research distortions arising phenomenon working here too," from the fact that the working remarks Dubois. Reliable Worker

Another not so obvious point, and fascinating dimensions. To is the extent to which manage- ment is wasting the talents of, illustrate:

Manhattan Becoming City of Disenchantment

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — This place is called "Fun City," but the truth is—taint funny, McGee.
To many it is a city of growing disenchantment.
For a century, Manhattan has been one of the great meccas of mankind, and millions came here from crowded lands abroad and the far hamlets of our country to forge their dreams.
But, increasingly it has become a place where people come merely to make enough loot so they can move away.

O. Henry's old Baghdad on the Subway still is a metropolis of glitter and possible romance, where anything can happen. The trouble is just that—everything does happen.
Buy Anything
New York still has the world's tallest skyscrapers, some of the world's greatest restaurants, and loveliest women. If you have enough scratch, you can buy anything here that's for sale—including love and justice.
Yep, it's still the city that has the mostest of just about everything. Among its claims to fame it doesn't like to claim: It has some of the world's dirtiest air.

It has the world's noisiest subways.
It has some of the world's meanest muggers, so mean that the women hate to go out on its streets after dark.
It probably leads the world in juvenile vandalism.
Cashah-Streets
It has more people on relief than most foreign nations.
It has some of the world's worst traffic jams. You can grow old before your time just trying to get across town.
It has one of the world's largest sanitation departments—and certainly some of the filthiest streets this side of the cashah in Algiers.
It has probably the world's most frightened civic population. People are so afraid of getting involved in trouble they look away from a murder so they won't have to report it to the police.
It has one of the world's weirdest tax structures — so weird that the New York Stock Exchange is threatening to move to New Jersey, so weird that smuggling in tax-free cigarettes looks when the deer, the chip-a lot of your neighbors have stopped baking pies!

Maybe it's because they discovered Jane Parker Pies...thousands have.

But...you say, "No thanks, there is nothing like a good home-baked pie."
We agree...they're great."

But would you believe it if we told you our Jane Parker Pies taste home-baked?
Probably not...until you've tried one.

Then you'd discover the crust is short and flaky like your own.

You'd discover the fruit is the kind you'd use...
the best...juicy, not stiff with starch.

And if you popped a Jane Parker Pie into the oven and warmed it before serving, you'd discover a pie you'd be proud to call your own.

Are Jane Parker Pies a good reason for shopping A&P?
They're one of many.

War Between 2 Loops Looms

WASHINGTON (AP) — The played out their options in both signing of place-kicker Pete Gogolak by the New York Giants, after he played out his option with the Buffalo Bills may sign with the Buffalo Bills or hop to the Houston Oilers between the National Football League and the American Football League.

Al Davis, AFL commissioner, had a "no comment" reaction to the news, announced Tuesday by Wellington Mara, president of the Giants, at the NFL meetings.

However, an AFL spokesman observed, "The league office stand is that this was not a surprise. We had reason to anticipate the provocative action of the New York Giants against the Buffalo Bills. We are interested in seeing if the commissioner's office of the other league will approve the contract."

"If the contract is in order, from the standpoint of eligibility in the National Football League," said NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle, "it will not be disapproved." The contract was mailed to Rozelle's New York office.

Under pro football rules, unlike baseball, a player can refuse to sign a contract with a team, take a cut in pay and play out his option for one year. The following May 1 he becomes a free agent. Gogolak never did sign with Buffalo in 1965.

Obviously, if a number of players refuse to sign their 1966 contracts and play out their options, this opens the door to wild bidding next May 1.

The AFL has two other star players, defensive linemen Earl Faison and Ernie Ladd of San Francisco, who became free agents the FVCC test, with strong May 1. They reportedly are challenges coming from Green Bay Packers and the Chicago Bears.

game Tuesday night it looked like anything but a third place finish for her. She had six splits the first line and ended up with a 134 scratch game.

The kegling veteran, who has bowled only occasionally since having surgery in January, then went to work and displayed some of her old form in rapping scratch games of 180, 196 and 223 in her last three games. She had three strikes in her second game, four in the third and six in the fourth.

Wearing Watch

In 1963, when Percy took the class A crown, she had a 829 total and last night she was wearing the watch which she received as part of her first place award.

"Maybe that brought me some good luck," Percy remarked after the tournament. It looked like Shirley "Butch" Heiser was on her way to big things Tuesday night when she opened with a thundering 347 scratch game. The Class A kegger with only six pins handicap per game had trouble the middle two games however, and finished with a 748. She did win the shift prize for having the top woman's single game on the second shift.

Rita Laux, Appleton, took the first shift award with a 161 scratch and 40 pins handicap for a 201 count.

For the men keglers, Gb Nabbeled, Appleton, was high on the first shift with a 240.24 pins handicap for a 236.

Riches-to-Rags Story Of Randy Turpin Ends

LONDON (AP) — The sad riches-to-rags story of Randolph Turpin, former world middleweight champion, ended with a gunshot blast in a dingy backstreet cafe Tuesday.

Although police maintained a traditional silence on who did the shooting, friends said the 38-year-old Turpin had been depressed lately.

In the same incident Turpin's 17-month-old daughter, Carmen, was seriously injured with two gunshot wounds and rushed to a hospital.

Turpin was found dead with a gunshot near the body in his wife's transport cafe in Leamington Spa, about 150 miles north of London.

Here's Reception

The spot was not far away from the town's main street, where the whole community turned out to give Turpin a hero's reception in July 1951. Turpin had just beaten a great Sugar Ray Robinson for the world middleweight title and was on top of the world.

Just 64 days later Turpin went to New York and lost the title to Robinson on a knockout.

Turpin kept on boxing but never reached the top again.

During his fight career he is believed to have made $500,000.

Turpin was found dead with a gunshot near the body in his wife's transport cafe in Leamington Spa, about 150 miles north of London.

Notre Dame Has Sold 11,000 Season Tickets

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Season football ticket sales at Notre Dame are running 66 per cent ahead of last year, ticket manager Bob Cahill announced Tuesday.

"In just two weeks we have received orders for more than 11,000 season tickets," Cahill said. "It is quite possible the maximum sale of 20,000 season tickets will be reached by June 1."

There were also fears that the local Government Council, as part of a development scheme, was going to demolish his wife's cafe—Turpin's main source of livelihood.

Maybe it's because they discovered Jane Parker Pies...thousands have.

But...you say, "No thanks,
there is nothing like a good home-baked pie."
We agree...they're great."

But would you believe it if we told you our Jane Parker Pies taste home-baked?
Probably not...until you've tried one.

Then you'd discover the crust is short and flaky like your own.

You'd discover the fruit is the kind you'd use...
the best...juicy, not stiff with starch.

And if you popped a Jane Parker Pie into the oven and warmed it before serving,
you'd discover a pie you'd be proud to call your own.

Are Jane Parker Pies a good reason for shopping A&P?
They're one of many.

Dodgers Edge Giants In 13th, but Marichal Escapes Without Loss

By MURRAY CHASS Associated Press Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Dodgers are halfway to beating Juan Marichal.

The Dodgers, who haven't beaten the San Francisco ace in more than a year, edged the Giants 2-1 in 13 innings Tuesday night after holding Marichal to a tie in 10 innings.

The tie was an improvement over the outcome two weeks ago when he stopped them 8-1 on four hits. The next logical step, then, would be for the Dodgers to progress the rest of the way and defeat Marichal.

The last time they accomplished that feat was April 29, 1965, when they squeaked by him 2-1. He holds a four-game winning streak against them and is 18-8 lifetime.

Nearly Missed Tie

Los Angeles nearly missed gaining the tie, and Marichal nearly had his eighth victory of the season without a loss.

game Tuesday night it looked like anything but a third place finish for her. She had six splits the first line and ended up with a 134 scratch game.

The kegling veteran, who has bowled only occasionally since having surgery in January, then went to work and displayed some of her old form in rapping scratch games of 180, 156 and 223 in her last three games. She had three strikes in her second game, four in the third and six in the fourth.

Wearing Watch

In 1963, when Percy took the class A crown, she had a 829 total and last night she was wearing the watch which she received as part of her first place award.

"Maybe that brought me some good luck," Percy remarked after the tournament. It looked like Shirley "Butch" Heiser was on her way to do things Tuesday night when she opened with a thundering 247 scratch game. The Class A kegler with only six pins handicap per game had trouble the middle two games however and finished with a 748. She did win the shift prize for having the top woman's single game on the second shift.

Rita Laux, Appleton, took the first shift award with a 161 scratch and 40 pins handicap for a 201 count.

For the men keggers, Gib Nabbefeld, Appleton, was high with a 212 scratch and on the first shift with a 240; 24 pins handicap for a 236.

Ex-Champion Shot Fatally

Riches-to-Rags Story Of Randy Turpin Ends

LONDON (AP) — The sad riches-to-rags story of Randolph Turpin, former world middle-weight champion, ended with a gunshot blast in a dingy backstreet cafe Tuesday.

Although police maintained a traditional silence on who did the shooting, friends said the 38-year-old Turpin had been depressed lately.

In the same incident Turpin's 17-month-old daughter, Carmen, was seriously injured with two gunshot wounds and rushed to a hospital.

Turpin was found dead with a gun near the body in his wife's transport cafe in Leamington Spa, about 150 miles north of London.

Here's Reception

The spot was not far away from the town's main street, where the whole community turned out to give Turpin a hero's reception in July 1951.

Turpin had just beaten the great Sugar Ray Robinson for the world middleweight title and was on top of the world.

Just 64 days later Turpin went to New York and lost the title to Robinson on a knockout.

Turpin kept on boxing but never reached the top again. During his fight career he is believed to have made $500,000.

Appleton, paced the second shift for a 249 and Dave Wilson, Nabbefeld, Appleton, was high with a 212 scratch and on the first shift with a 240; 24 pins handicap for a 236.

Notre Dame Has Sold 11,000 Season Tickets

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Season football ticket sales at Notre Dame are running 66 per cent ahead of last year, ticket manager Bob Cahill announced Tuesday.

"In just two weeks we have received orders for more than 11,000 season tickets," Cahill said. "It is quite possible the maximum sale of 20,000 season tickets will be reached by June 1."

There were also fears that the local Government Council, as part of a development scheme, was going to demolish his wife's cafe—Turpin's main source of livelihood.

Just a few more reasons more people are joining the Dodge Rebellion. A Dodge Boys' service manager knows that you don't want to stand around all day before someone comes up to see what you're doing there. He knows you don't like to pay for coffee breaks. He knows you may want to talk to the guy who worked on your car. He knows you may want an explanation of what you're paying for.

You deserve it all. Nobody gives service away. An auto dealer counts on service for income. He's not doing you a favor to service your car. You're doing him one.

So do us a favor. Try The Dodge Boys for service. We sell a lot of Dodges that way.

Y'gotta be a good guy if you want to be a Dodge Boy.

Legislation to be Filed in Massachusetts for Stadium

BOSTON (AP) — A Greater Boston Stadium Authority official said Monday that legislation needed for construction of a $97 million stadium-arena complex in Boston would be filed in the Massachusetts Legislature this week.

Authority Chairman William H. Sullivan said the legislation will ask the state to pledge credit toward any deficit which the proposed complex might incur.

Sullivan, who is president of the Boston Patriots of the American Football League, made the statement after conferring with Mayor John F. Collins.

The complex would be adjacent to the Massachusetts Turnpike and rapid transit facilities. The stadium, with retractable roof, would seat 58,000 for football and baseball, and 18,000 for basketball and hockey. There would be parking space for 8,000 cars. The complex also would include a restaurant, a garage, and a motel.

Collins will lead a delegation to Washington Wednesday to make a bid for a National Football League franchise for Boston.

ABC Masters Sure to Have New Champion

Welu, Carter and
Dick Weber Among
Those Eliminated

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A new champion will be wearing the American Bowling Congress Masters Tournament crown tonight.

All former titlists were eliminated during the grueling series of matches which began Sunday night.

Among Tuesday's eminent casualties were defending champion Billy Welu, former titlist Don Carter and All-Star champion Dick Weber, all of St. Louis.

Al Thompson of Cleveland and Bob Strampe of Detroit, the only undefeated finalists, have never come close to the Masters title.

Marvin Lowry of Birmingham, Ala., who has one loss in the current tournament, finished fourth 10 years ago, but has since not been a serious Masters contender.

Dismal Records
The other survivors, as the Masters moves into its final day, share the dual distinction of having one loss in the current tournament and dismal records in previous Masters.

Tom Harnisch of Buffalo, N.Y., Gene Raffel of Milwaukee and Wayne Zahn of Atlanta complete the circle of one-time losers who will engage in a series of matches today to decide one berth in the championship match.

Thompson and Strampe will duel for the other spot in the title bout. The defeated man drops into the loser's bracket.

Strampe kept his string of victories going Tuesday by defeating Raffel, 801-775, and Lowry, 899-857, in four-game matches.

Jack Nicklaus ON GOLF

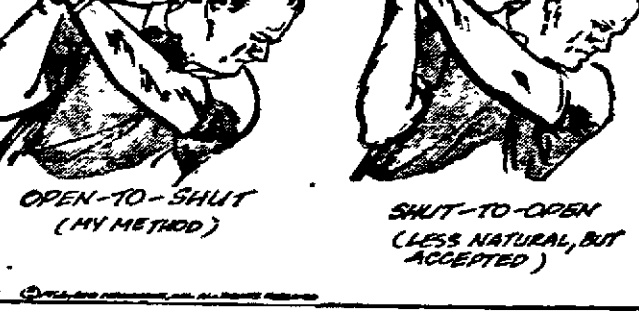

• TWO WAYS TO SWING •

THERE ARE, BASICALLY, TWO METHODS OF SWINGING A GOLF CLUB. ONE IS TO GRADUALLY CLOSE THE CLUBFACE DURING THE BACKSWING, THEN RE-OPEN IT ON THE DOWNSWING.

THE METHOD USED BY 90% OF THE PROFESSIONALS INVOLVES A REVERSE PROCEDURE. THE CLUBFACE OPENS SLIGHTLY GOING BACK, THEN CLOSES COMING DOWN TO A SQUARE POSITION AT IMPACT.

NO ONE CAN BE THE FINAL AUTHORITY ON WHICH IS BEST, AS GREAT GOLFERS ARE LISTED UNDER EACH. I WILL SAY THAT THE PLAYER WHO SWINGS FROM THE OPEN POSITION AT THE TOP (OPEN-TO-SHUT) WILL BE PERFORMING THE MORE NATURAL ACTION AND WILL, THUS, ENJOY GREATER LONGEVITY IN PLAYING CONSISTENT GOLF.

Rick Mount, Prep Cage Ace Picks Miami

LEBANON, Ind. (AP) — Rick Mount of Lebanon, one of the nation's most sought-after high school basketball players, announced Tuesday he will play college ball at the University of Miami in Florida.

Miami Coach Bruce Hale arrived here to sign the 6-foot-3 recruit to a four-year grant-in-aid worth $12,000, guaranteeing Mount an education whether or not he plays basketball.

Hale said Tuesday was "the best day of my coaching career. I feel terrific. I have toured the country but have seen no other player equal to this boy."

Mount averaged 20.4 points a game his freshman year, 23.3 his sophomore year and 33.1 his last two seasons.

At a news conference in Lebanon, marked by highway signs as the "Home of Rick Mount," the 19-year-old player said he chose to join the Hurricanes because he liked "the coaching, surroundings and players."

Raiders Nip Clintonville

Error Lets in Winning Run in Eighth Inning

CLINTONVILLE — An unearned run with two out in the eighth inning gave Two Rivers High School a 6-5 victory over Clintonville in a Mid-Eastern Conference tilt played here Tuesday.

Jim Patterson, of the Raiders, walked to open the eighth. He got as far as second on a pair of infield outs. The next batter struck out to apparently end the inning, but the ball got away from the catcher and when he retrieved it the throw went into right field and the winning run scored.

Clintonville had rallied to tie the score with a run in the last of the seventh. The loss gives the Truckers a 2-3 M-E record and a 5-5 slate overall.

E. J. Streu was the winning pitcher and Lee Raddatz took the loss. Both hurlers went the distance. Streu had four strikeouts and walked six while Raddatz fanned 10 and walked three.

Gary Egan had three singles for the Truckers and Gordy Stevenson poked a double. Two Rivers 000 103 11-6 9 3 Clinton 100 300 10-5 9 3 E. J. Streu and Lee Miller. Lee Raddatz and Pete Korb.

Wisconsin '9' Posts 4-3 Win

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin rallied with three successive singles with two out in the bottom of the ninth to edge Northern Illinois 4-3 Tuesday.

The nonconference baseball victory raised the Badgers' record to 7-17 heading into their final Big Ten games against Illinois Friday and Purdue Saturday.

Gary Kraft triggered the tie-breaking rally and Harlan Kraft followed with another single before Gary Pinnow's hit drove in the winning run. Wisconsin had collected its first three runs in a second-inning outburst aided by a throwing error by hurler Jan Brasic that allowed two runs to score.

Backstage 'Magicians' Create Background for Play 'Happy as Larry'

Settings, Costumes Must Be Right to Fit Actors' Moods, Scene Demands

Of Lawrence University
"Happy As Larry" is an interesting blend of realism and fantasy. As such, it poses many interesting problems to the people involved in putting it on the stage. There are two phases of production into which the play — or any play — divides itself.

These can be thought of as the people and the place. The people of "Happy As Larry" include six tailors, Larry, his wife, a widow, a doctor, a pharmacist, a gravedigger and in a surprise appearance, the three fates — all of whom are under the experienced guiding hand of Lawrence's Prof. F. Theodore Cloak. Cloak's cast has long since mastered the fundamentals of these roles, to such a degree that tonight's opening performance should exhibit the high polish so typical of Lawrence productions.

points we abandon the 19th century and play for comedy, using the conventions of modern musical comedy, complete with follow spots.

The most interesting word with which we have worked is "fantasy." The fantastic elements of the play have posed such interesting problems as: "How do we go back 50 years in time?" "How does a piano roll away by itself with someone playing it?" "How do you make a rock move from a stage with three people on it?" And a few others equally as challenging.

One of the more fascinating problems is caused by the tailors. They function, at various times, as participants in their own actions in their own time; as observers of actions that have happened 50 years ago, and as participants in the actions of the past. The problem is to make clear which of the three functions the tailors are performing at a given moment.

Light Tailored
By the use of differing types, and qualities of light, this "Irish" Thus Larry is clothed in tweeds, and smokes a pipe; the tailors use Irish stoneware beer mugs and clay pipes.

"Melodrama" suggests an oily villain clothed in black, a pliant maid, a put-upon heroine. "Nineteenth Century" suggests a definite convention of staging and lighting. The set pieces used are mainly flat pieces, with much painted detail. Anything that is not functional is painted on the backdrop. Even doors, windows and a fireplace are painted. The lighting embodies a conscious attempt to duplicate the colors and tones of 19th century gaslight.

Pure Comedy
The other words which have long since mastered the fundamentals of these roles, to such a degree that tonight's opening performance should exhibit the high polish so typical of Lawrence productions.

'Batman' in Repeat With Mister Freeze

BY TV SCOUT
Batman's latest villain is Mr. Freeze, a terrible cad who lives in an air-conditioned suit which keeps his body temperature down to 50 degrees below zero. As played by George Sanders, a real pro in the scary-cat business, he is a cool customer, indeed as he turns Batman and Robin into living batsicles, while trying to steal all the "ice" (diamonds) in Gotham City. (R-Color)

6:30-7:30 (Channels 2-7-12) — The Danny Kaye Show has some unusual casting. Present are Cyril Ritchard (in a funny sketch teaching Danny proper diction) and country-western singer Eddy Arnold whose tunes include "I Want to Go With You" and "Just a Little Lovin' in." (R-Color)

8:30 (Channels 4-5) — I Spy, still fighting the bogyman in the Orient, has agents Robinson and Scott chasing the Blue Dragon Society, Hong Kong's inscrutable mafia. It appears the bad guys have cornered the odorless, tasteless and lethal market on "shen yoy foon," a (R-Color)

Ideal GRADUATION GIFT

6:30-8 (Channel 5) — The Virginian's "It Takes a Big Man" features crusty Lloyd Nolan as a big daddy with a big problem. He has a terrible secret about the mother of his favorite son, played with tight-jawed conviction by Chris Robinson. (R-Color)

7:30-8 (Channels 11-4-9) — The last new episode of Blue Light throws little light on the mess double agent David March is in. The swan song of the series has him under orders by the British to kill a German scientist who is building the bomb of bombs. (Color)

8-9 (Channels 11-9) — "The Murdered Party" on The Big Valley is still another outing of mixed-up justice. It's also highly improbable. Jarrod (Richard Long) defends an accused killer (Warren Oates) while his brother Heath (Lee Majors) is the prosecution's star witness. (R-Color)

8-9 (Channels 4-5) — Bob Hope Presents a frivolous comedy, "One Embezzlement and Two Margaritas," which may prompt the viewer to take two martinis to get through. Jack Kelly plays a flippant private eye in hot pursuit of a bank embezzler who is living it up in South America. (Color)

8:30-9 (Channels 2-7-12) — "Dear Sally Rogers," an episode previously scheduled for The Dick Van Dyke Show, gives Rose Marie her most ambitious assignment yet. It's a funny script, which takes carefully aimed potshots at late evening variety programs like Johnny Carson's Tonight Show.

REMEMBER? REMEMBER? REMEMBER?

The way history is taught in school today, it's almost as fresh as yesterday's front page. If you had kept a file of the paper for last year and the year before that, your youngster would have a head start towards honors in current events.

You can do still better than that. By obtaining a copy of THE WORLD IN 1965 — and, if you didn't get one already, of THE WORLD IN 1964 — you can provide him with an educational tool that will set him apart.

No dry-as-dust yearbook, THE WORLD IN 1965 contains all the facts but recounts in dramatic, telling detail the big events, the interesting events, the significant events, of the year. The quality of the hundreds of news photos, in color and black and white, rivals that of the text.

This big, 288-page, handsome book, costing only $3, has been prepared by the world's foremost news gathering agency, The Associated Press, which cooperates with this newspaper in supplying you with the news of the nation and the world.

To obtain your copy of THE WORLD IN 1965, fill out and mail the coupon at once. The book will be ready in February.

Maryland Episcopal To be Reapportioned

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The Episcopal Diocese of Maryland has decided to follow the example of some of the 50 states.

Delegates to its annual convention voted Tuesday to reapportion themselves more closely to a "one-man, one-vote" principle.

Under the new constitutional amendment, the number of delegates each church may select will be based on its communicants rather than the number of clergy based at the church. One delegate will be allowed for each 400 communicants or fraction thereof.

APPLETON AUTO SAFETY DAYS, May 18-28

YOU'RE IN THE DRIVER'S SEAT...

QUESTION:
a car cuts across your path. . . how will you react to this common driving emergency?

ANSWER:
Here's what to do. Apply your brakes firmly, but not enough to throw you into a skid. Since the oncoming car will be going from your left to right, steer to the left behind the car, watching for other oncoming traffic. If a collision is unavoidable, steering to the left makes your chances better of a glancing blow rather than a broadside crash. Chances for personal injury and damage are reduced with a glancing blow.

This emergency driving situation is a common occurrence which has led to many serious accidents. Your ability to do the right thing when this situation occurs can mean the difference between life and death.

Vocational School Heads Hit Criteria for Area Districts

BY FERN SMITH

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

SHEBOYGAN — The prospect that the current criteria for establishment of area vocational districts will be the final criteria brought sharp protests from vocational school directors and board members in the Fox Valley-Lake Shore area Monday night.

C. L. Greiber, state director of vocational education, told 12 vocational districts took form in directors and 22 board members a meeting in informal session at the Executive Inn here that the standards worked out by Rich-Warren P. Knowles, each member of the State Vocational vocational director, will be Board, Angus B. Rothwell, recommended to the state vocational board May 24. "There is a very strong possibility that they will be accepted," the director said.

A state law passed last year requires that the whole state be divided into large vocational districts by 1970, each including a new vocational technical institute. The state vocational board however, has indicated it will make the final districting decision by mid-June.

15 Districts Planned "Unless something happens to change the criteria, this is going to provide about 15 districts in Wisconsin," Greiber said. "There will be an expansion of service in local vocational and technical schools within the state and there may be some consolidation of districts. Some people like it and some people do not — but the directors asked for this and we will have to live with it and work with it until we have a type of vocational and technical education."

Bear Lake Residents Told Of Need for Sewage Facility

Federal Official Explains Procedure for Obtaining Aid

MANAWA — Residents of the Bear Lake cottage area were told here Tuesday night a sewage disposal facility was desirable and the steps for obtaining federal aid for constructing such a facility.

Harold Kohlmann, Waupaca, of the Farm and Home Administration of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, said the first step is to conduct a survey to find out how many residents favor a sewage disposal facility. If a majority of residents favor a facility, a committee should be formed to file an application for planning funds, Kohlmann explained.

With these funds, an engineering firm would be hired to prepare a preliminary report on the feasibility of such a project and the estimated cost.

Prevent Pollution Robert Conroy, owner of the Bear Lake resort, said the purpose of constructing such a facility would be to prevent pollution of Bear Lake. While there is no pollution now, he said, it is inevitable with the individual sewage systems. Conroy added that since establishment of a sanitary district is an involved process, it was important to start working on the project immediately.

Conroy said a committee

WAUPACA — The school district will conduct a six-week summer school mathematics program financed by the federal government.

Board Proposal for Spending 1.1 Million on Construction Handed 470-435 Loss Tuesday

WEYAUWEGA — A proposal to build a new $1.1 million high school was rejected, 470-345, by district electors in a special referendum vote Tuesday.

The board of education has sought authority to bond the district for $1,123,450 to carry out the project which it favored over a second proposal to expand existing facilities.

A new high school, the board indicated in a brochure to district electors, would have been the answer to long-range educational needs. The present high school would have been remodeled to be used as an upper elementary school plant for grades five through eight and the two existing elementary schools — here and at Fremont — would have been used for kindergarten through fourth grade.

Grades Crowded Overcrowding of grades was given as one of the primary reasons for the expansion plan. The high school, the board said in its brochure, lacked the school buses for out of town general classroom space, a language laboratory, adequate facilities for business education, art and industrial arts instruction or enough space for home economics.

Thilmany Co. Makes Changes In Sales Units

Managers Named
For Converting,
Plastic Papers

KAUKAUNA — Three organization changes in the Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co. sales division have been announced by L. R. Graef, vice president for marketing.

Graef said the changes are being made as the marketing division adjusts to recent personnel moves. He added the shift in responsibilities is intended to further strengthen the entire "selling arm" of the company.

A. R. Miller, 419 E. MacArthur St., Appleton, effective May 1 became sales manager, food and converter markets. J. J. Ternes, Apple Creek Road, Appleton, was named product manager, plastics papers product department, and G. D. Pinckard, 947 E. Pacific St., Appleton, was transferred to the firm's Cleveland sales office as a sales representative.

Background of Men

Miller, who previously served as product manager, plastic papers department, joined the company's sales department in 1951. In 1955 he was transferred to the Chicago sales office and was named manager of the midwest sales division in 1958. He returned to the home office in 1961 as plastic papers product manager. He is a member of the Plastics Extrusion Coaters Group of the American Paper Institute.

Ternes joined Thilmany in 1956 after receiving his masters' degree in marketing from the University of Wisconsin. From 1956 to 1964 he served as a sales representative in the eastern sales division and returned to the Kaukauna office in 1964 as manager of market analysis and development.

Pinckard joined the company in 1965 and for the past year has been on a training and development program in the specialty papers department. Prior to joining Thilmany, he served as a sales representative with several companies, the most recent being an electronics manufacturer in Albuquerque, N. M.

The Primary Dialogue

One of the advantages of the open primary system of managing nominations of the parties for principal public offices is the inducement to the aspirants for those places to discuss in detail and in depth with the people who control the primary elections their ideas and their proposals and in the process to show something of their intellectual attainment and outlook.

Thus the current contest among Lt. Gov. Patrick Lucey and David Carley and Dominic Frinzi for the leadership of the Democratic state ticket in the fall is providing some enlightening material for the interested voter. Mr. Frinzi, to the surprise of many no doubt, has contributed some provocative ideas to the campaign discussions thus far including some comments about the default of the nominal election spending controls that sorely need to be uttered.

Mr. Carley, with considerable academic training in political economy, has sometimes impressed his listeners with the style of the professorial lecturer, rather than as the partisan combatant. But it will be difficult to contradict the claim of his friends, nevertheless, that he has contributed some of the most original ideas on state government problems and constructive criticisms of state government programs and policies. While the issues between him and the state administration under its present command appear to be less than fundamental for the most part, he is a ready and effective debater with such material as he finds at hand.

Not with any thought of expressing a preference, but because he has submitted to us most recently an exceptionally thoughtful speech manuscript, we would compliment Mr. Lucey also. Mr. Lucey addressed himself to the prejudice of some of those impatient and perhaps less educated critics who claim that the idea of state government has become obsolete, and that the national government should be the supreme administrative instrumentality in the country.

Mr. Lucey aptly notes that in spite of the herculean expansion of the national government power, the states provide the largest and in fact a growing share of the domestic public services. The states are the experimental laboratories of the American political system. States are fruitful training grounds for political leaders in the country as a whole. States permit wider participation of the rank and file of the people in government.

"If all policy making was done by a remote central government, few of our people would ever acquire the appreciation of governmental processes that comes from being a part of the apparatus," he argues, and accurately.

The states are not dead, whatever some of the radical theorists upholding centralism believe, or hope. They are essential components of the democratic fabric of the nation. They will survive and grow more important. They will do so to the extent that they produce able, imaginative, thoughtful local politicians. It is some satisfaction to observe that the Wisconsin minority party which is aspiring to rule the executive department next term is producing contenders who understand the relation between responsible campaign dialogue and representative government.

Soldiers Square Improvements

The time is ripe for merchants and property owners on the south side of the 100 block of E. College Avenue to make a complete appraisal of their establishments, and with the cooperation of city planners, start laying the groundwork for future improvements which will tie in with the proposed Soldiers Square pedestrian mall.

Ald. Roy Pointer (14th), Common Council president and chairman of the Street-Sanitation Committee, sounded the right note recently when he said a meeting should be called of the merchants and building owners in the block mentioned to see just what they intend to do in putting free enterprise to work in rejuvenating the central business district.

The reconstruction of College Avenue is scheduled to begin in the spring of 1967 but certain decisions have to be made now concerning the design of some sectors of the business district.

Plans call for a mall in the Soldiers Square area which would be immediately north of a multi-level municipal parking structure the city intends to start building

Rumania Stands Up to the Kremlin

The United States and Western Europe understandably are concerned about President de Gaulle's apparent intentions to withdraw all of France's responsibilities to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization while relying upon its protection. The same sort of breaking away appears to be going on among the Communist countries.

Two years ago the Rumanian government asserted its independence and ever since has carefully taken actions that wrecked a Russian common market idea which would have emphasized Soviet industry but promoted Rumanian and Bulgarian agriculture and raw products at the expense of national industrial plans. Last week the Rumanian premier, Nicolae Ceausescu, timed a strong speech for just before the arrival of Soviet Communist party leader, Leonid Brezhnev. Ceausescu reaffirmed Rumanian intentions to sovereignty and decried military pacts as "anachronisms incompatible with independent national sovereignty and normal relations between states." He also deplored the presence of foreign troops in other countries and spoke enthusiastically of the "friendship and collaboration" between Rumania and France. And he went even further than denouncing some actions of the Russians under Stalin. He criticized things that had happened against Rumania when Lenin was in power.

Obviously none of this means a sudden breaking up of Russian control in Eastern Europe. The Rumanian opposition to the efforts in Moscow to weld an economic unity is really similar to the antagonism in the American colonies to British mercantilism. But while the Rumanians may currently feel that the greatest threat to their national sovereignty is the Soviet Union, the same cannot be assured in countries like Poland and of course East Germany where West German ambitions for reunification, including some territory now held by Poland, remain a primary threat or at least a successful bogeyman for this summer and have completed next spring. However, it would seem foolhardy for the city to proceed with the mall design if merchants and property owners do not intend to fix up the rear of their shops to take advantage of the downtown face-lifting.

Alderman Pointer made an excellent point when he said a meeting should be held with the merchants and property owners in the block as soon as the preliminary sketch for the mall is received from a Detroit engineering firm. We agree it makes good sense for store owners to also start making remodeling plans now when they still have about a year to carry them out.

Many of the buildings could use renovation, and replacement in some instances, and it is sincerely hoped the merchants and building owners — for their own good and the future well-being of the central business district — see fit to work hand in hand with the city to bring about a refreshing new look for Appleton's downtown.

The Russians to warn about. Nor is the Rumanian insistence that it wishes to be friendly with Red China, whatever the Russian attitude, necessarily encouraging as far as throwing out a Communist government is concerned.

But the growing friction does suggest two things. First, there is no longer the overwhelming fear in Eastern Europe of the "imperialist" nations. The advantageous economic arrangements between the satellites and some Western countries, including the United States, have helped if only by emphasizing self-interest. And the fear that the Communist movement is one closely controlled monolithic organization no longer has validity.

It is true that all Communist nations have in varying degrees vocally at least supported the North Vietnamese and criticized the United States action in South Viet Nam. If a war should break out even in Eastern Europe at this point, it is also almost certain that the Communist countries in that area, and perhaps Yugoslavia (but not Albania) as well would fight on the same side. But the absolute divisions, even of the West and the Communist countries, are breaking down. The "third force" suggested by the unaligned some years ago, could conceivably include countries like France and Rumania in the future.

It is essential that the United States continue to study the various trends carefully. The President's encouragement of more open trade with the satellites has been set aside by Congress until next fall. Perhaps it is important to study the plan more thoroughly. But as our ambassador to Poland, John Gronouski, said on his recent visit in this area, "we're going to live a long time with nations which don't agree with us ideologically." While we readily acknowledge that communism is the major tyrannical threat to world peace and justice right now, we should be able to encourage nations such as Rumania which start to pull away from Kremlin control.

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for May 19, 1866.

On Thursday morning last, on entering the College Chapel for the usual morning services, the Chapel was found to be transformed into a poultry market.

In different portions of the building were suspended by the necks, diverse chickens, and a gentleman of the comb and spur was occupying the position of honor—over the rostrum. There were no "dead ducks" among the lot.

It is naturally supposed that somebody's hen roost is minus some occupants.

Asks Public be Concerned and Aroused About River Pollution

Editor, Post-Crescent:

There has been much talk concerning pollution of our lakes and rivers. Because of the fact that much of this talk has been carried on at the federal level, I believe there is a great danger that people start to believe water pollution is something that happens to other communities in other parts of our country. This is not true! Our valley is alive with pollution!

Most of the mills on the Fox violate our river in one way or another. But one of the most shameless displays of disregard for the public resources in the area can be seen by any motorist crossing the new College Avenue high bridge. Next time you use the bridge, look off to the east and see what this mill is doing to your river. It would appear they consider it to be their private garbage disposal. Thousands of gallons of white slime are flushed with hoses down our river each day.

The City of Appleton has one park located downstream from the mill at the present time. Now I understand they intend to build another park downstream on the other side of the river. Using tax money for tables were found in the river near the lower bridge.

We did not notice any of the Cook's Wagons upon the College roof, nor had any of Lyon & Turner's horses been furnished lodgings in the attic.

Some wild spirits still roam among those "classic halls"—that need a slight taming!

Curriculum Needs Now May Change

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I find your comments on the educational opportunities offered at Luxemburg High School and Casco High School most interesting.

"Neither high school has a modern foreign language nor a fourth year of mathematics." I believe the administrators of both schools would agree on the value of increasing their curriculum by offering these subjects to their students.

In the past, offering college prep courses did not fulfill the greatest needs of the majority of the students. With the advent of advanced schooling on the university level available "within commuting distance," I am sure these subjects will appear on the curriculum.

Perhaps one shortcoming of administrators of these small high schools, is their concern in teaching students, not

Correction

In a recent editorial which discussed the Luxemburg and Casco high school situations, a reference was made to several schools in this area among them Freedom. It was stated Freedom has 256 high school students but did not indicate they were in the sophomore, junior and senior classes. Another 96 students, freshmen, are listed as junior high students. The total high school enrollment therefore is 352.

Line Forming to Get Share of Estimated State Revenue Hike

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — An officer of the state university system stood before his Board of Regents the other day and remarked that it is a "fortuitous circumstance" that the Legislature has reconvened this spring. It permits the schools to press again for the faculty pay increases that the Legislature declined to enact in the amounts asked during its regular budget making session last year, he reminded.

Wyngaard

The idea of Robert De Zonia of the state university system is not unique. Other spending lobbies are standing in line to press again for the goodies that the men who hold the purse strings were not disposed to allow during many months of consideration earlier in the 1965 legislative term.

What has changed, of course, is the condition of the state treasury. Until late last year, it was supposed, on the basis of the most expert advice available, that the state budget was balanced in the most precise way, and that there might, indeed, be an embarrassing deficit. It was only about 10 months ago that there were gloomy news dispatches about the outlook for payless paydays, and reductions in services, and other melancholy developments relating to the "crisis," so called.

HIDDEN COSTS

The Legislature at long last, after a classic struggle, reluctantly consented to a new round of taxes. Presumably the fiscal deliberations of the term had ended. But these men failed to reckon with the inflationary nature of the economy, and the fact that as inflation advances, the state's tax yields advance with it. Now the emphasis is upon the state treasury surplus.

As nature abhors a vacuum, legislative politicians find it difficult to accept the idea that money should not be spent when it is available, or that it should be kept for possibly more difficult days ahead.

The teachers and the state employees and the local school boards lobby and a miscellaneous collection of spenders will be on hand to press the Legislature to do what its instincts already command in an election campaign year—to spend the surplus so "fortuitously" discovered.

No realist has had any illusions about the prospect for a tax rebate under such circumstances. In point of fact, the surplus won't be large enough to make any considerable difference to the ordinary taxpayer. But a feasible alternative in economic, if not in political terms, would be to hold the surplus for next January, when the dreary probability of another huge gap between expenditures and available income can be predicted. Thus, the Legislature today has an opportunity to reduce the pain of the blow to its taxpaying constituents a year hence, if it chooses to use it.

ADDED COST FROM SESSION

Thus, also the $20 million to $30 million that the Legislature is likely to spend gratuitously this spring is one of the hidden costs of the new habit of segmented legislative sessions.

Had the Legislature adjourned last year, as did most of its predecessors until the last decade or so, the departments and others would have found their existing appropriations tolerable. In point of fact, it is highly doubtful that any person now pressing for the new appropriations could have seriously depended upon getting them, until recent weeks when it became clear that tax collections had exceeded expectations.

Moreover, an appropriation once granted usually becomes permanent. The additional funds voted now will come in as automatic requests in the next budget round, and the normal increases expected at biennial periods will be added to them. Thus the next Legislature, and the next administration, will lose twice. But these are the ineradicable characteristics of politics in modern America.

Strictly Personal

To Fully Understand Another Is Impossible

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

The two young people assured me that they understood each other "perfectly and completely," and no doubt they thought me cynical or even slightly senile when I shrugged and smiled skeptically at their words.

But the fact is that, much as they are in love, no person can wholly see another person — and what we cannot wholly see, we cannot wholly understand. We can only have faith, which is quite another matter.

Harris

We cannot even see a whole apple, much less a person. Every apple has its obverse and reverse sides: yet who can see them at once, to capture the totality of the apple? In a mirror, of course, we see only a reflection, and not the substance itself.

At each given moment, we see merely a part of the apple and build up the rest in our mind's eye from the part we see. But in its fullness, in its third-dimensionality, the apple remains unknown to us. Every object that has depth withholds some secret from us.

And how much more so a person. Hamlet rebuked his false friends for trying to pluck out the heart of his mystery: for his mystery was, quite simply, himself — that part unknown to everyone, even to his dearest friend,

Horatio, even to Hamlet himself at the end.

Gabriel Marcel, many years ago, wrote a fine book called "The Mystery of the Person." It is a phrase worth remembering, because in modern times this mystery (which, like all proper mysteries, has a sacred origin) runs the risk of being dissolved in to its lifeless components.

There are many today who would consider the person chiefly as Economic Man. There are those, equally prevalent, who would reduce him to Psychological Man. There are positivists and super-scientists who would admit nothing but Physical and Chemical Man, as if two dollars' worth of phosphates explained love and honor and self-sacrifice.

The whole person cannot be known by human means alone, and he is in danger of being violated when it is tried: his privacy removed, his passions atomized, his needs prescribed and proscribed, his reactions tabulated on a curve, his ultimate identity reduced to Personnel, Patient, Consumer, Citizen, Housewife, Student, Manager, and finally, Casualty.

It was sweet and touching that the young couple thought they understood each other "perfectly and completely." Ten years from now, they will not be so sure; and 20 years from now, if they stay together and gain in wisdom, they may have the courage and honesty to admit that they do not, and never did. Nor do they need to: love was devised to carry the current from mystery to mystery — a current so elusive and yet so heavy that no wires of understanding or reason can support it.

Proxmire Finds Few Against Warless China

Senator Calls for Pressure on Peking To Meet U. S. Effort

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. William Proxmire said Tuesday there is remarkably little opposition in Congress to American cooperation with a Communist China willing to renounce war.

The Wisconsin Democrat said the United States had gone 90 per cent of the way in trying to reach an accommodation with Peking. He said pressure should be brought to bear on Red China to make her meet American efforts.

In a speech at a forum on China at Town Hall, Proxmire said:

"Many congressmen would favor discontinuance of American opposition to the admission of Red China (to the United Nations) if she ceased her unrelenting hate campaign against this country and took simple steps toward accommodation with her neighbors."

Very few members of the Senate, however, would be likely to support admission of Red China to the U.N. "on the fantastic terms she calls for," he added.

The senator said he believed the United States had made mistakes in its relations with Red China, citing the State Department's acknowledgement last week that Peking had not been invited to the Geneva Disarmament Conference.

Perhaps we should not have summarily rejected China's recent offer to agree never to be the first to use atomic weapons," he said. "Perhaps we should first have pressed China to determine if her offer could be compromised with at least some beginning consideration of controls."

Co has for many years deferred installation of its own generation facilities because it was more economical to purchase its electric energy requirements from Wisconsin Electric Power Company's plants located in southeastern Wisconsin, officials said. With the advent of nuclear generation it is now more economical for Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. to plan its own generation at a point closer to the area in which its customers are located.

Another important consideration was the relationship of the proposed plant in the long term planning of the interconnected Eastern Wisconsin utilities. These, in addition to Wisconsin Electric Power Co. and Wisconsin Michigan Power, include Wisconsin Public Service Corp.,

If modifications have to be made, these rockets, the Gemini 9 substitute Atlas, and other Atlases fired on military space missions from Vandenberg may have to be delayed.

Begin Cleanup

A crew began cleaning up the Atlas-Agena launch pad today and NASA hoped to erect another Atlas within a few days.

But instead of an Agena, a less sophisticated target satellite will be used. It is called an Augmented Target Docking Adapter — a device that was built quickly after an Agena failed to achieve orbit on the original Gemini 6 launching attempt last Oct. 25.

Several weeks would be required to ready another Agena — and it would have to be borrowed from Gemini 10, 11 or 12. The ATDA, which has been on standby in a Cape Kennedy hangar, could be ready to go in two weeks.

By using the ATDA as a docking target, Stafford and Cernan will not be able to accomplish all the goals of their aborted flight. For one thing, the ATDA has no propulsion system and the astronauts will not be able to maneuver through the skies with it.

Restrict Maneuvers

They also will have to restrict some of the complex rendezvous maneuvers planned. But Dr. George E. Mueller, NASA associate administrator for manned space flight, said most of the Gemini 9 objectives could be met with the ATDA.

The major goal is docking practice, an essential man-to-the-moon technique.

Wisconsin Power and Light Co. and Madison Gas and Electric Co.

Wisconsin Power and Light Co. is concurrently announcing the construction of a 300,000 kilowatt addition to its Edgewater plant at Sheboygan, and Wisconsin Electric Power Co. will now proceed to obtain the necessary regulatory approvals including that of the Wisconsin Public Service Commission (PSC) and of U.S. Atomic Energy Commission. The latter agency will be requested to approve the site and issue a construction license after having determined that all established criteria have been met. The PSC must find that public convenience and necessity require the installation of the new plant.

Alfred Gruhl, president of Wisconsin Electric Power Co. and Wisconsin Michigan Power Co., said the site at Haven in Sheboygan County would be retained for possible future use for power plant additions in the southern portion of the combined systems of the two companies.
